Girls win title

The Stirling Girls Hockey team, sponsored by Ken Sine Fuels, climaxed a successful season Saturday night when they won the league championship in Kingston.

Stirling defeated Kingston 2-1 in the third game of the best-of-five series, to sweep the set in three straight games. The girls won the Quinte Ladies Hockey League, 'B' Division title.

Just recently the girls captured the title in an all-day tournament in Stirling, and will compete in a tournament in Toronto later this month.

Thomas Wildey Night held at IOOF Temple

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

On Wednesday evening, March 29, approximately 85 people convened at the IOOF temple in honor of the anniversary of Thomas Wildey, founder of the oddfellowship on the North American continent.

At 7 p.m. a family pot luck dinner was served in the banquet hall with Rev. John May giving the Invocation.

Noble Grand, Guy Bradshaw, and his committee were in charge and Roy Tucker arranged the program, which was given in the lodge hall.

Charles Carter was master of ceremonies. He welcomed the group and gave a short message re the life of Thomas Wildey.

He also introduced district deputy, Frank Foster, who was an honored guest.

Harvey Couch and his son, Kenneth and Donald Campbell contributed musical selections on the program and later provided music for dancing.

Miss Linda Walker gave two vocal solos with Gerald Taylor as accompanist.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a humorous elocution number and a poem entitled 'Why Worry.'

Rev. and Mrs. Roy Taylor conducted the assembly singing and later Rev. Taylor contributed two vocal selections.

Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Roy Tucker gave a modern skit based on new health procedures.

Mrs. John May sang two selection with Rev. May as piano accompanist.

Rev. W. C. Cox brought greetings.

R. E. Fox, a past grand master and Mrs. Fox then showed scenic slides of their bus trip to Alaska.

The various floats at the Calgary Stampede were very colorful and the views of the Rocky Mountains were magnificent. The buffalo and other animals, the beautiful shrubbery and a large array of flowers and vegetables all added interest to the travelogue. A few scenes of Victoria, B.C. were interesting. There was a plaque dedicated to the 'Palace Grand' a theatre of historic importance of days gone by. Several of those who enjoyed the tour were photographed underneath the 'Welcome to Alaska' sign.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Edna and Earl for the portrayal of their lovely trip.

At the close dancing was enjoyed.

BOY'S SPRING DAM

Randall Scholten, left, and Douglas Royce took advantage of Saturday's fine spring weather and the run-off from melting snow to experiment in the field of dam engineering. The boys used bricks to construct a dam in a ditch on Edward Street where water was running from Spring's melting snow.

Bird's IGA wins playoff

It was a one-man scoring game on Thursday night in Novice House League finals as Bird's IGA ousted Woodbeck Auto Parts 5-0 with captain of the team, Brian Doxtator, recording all the markers. Brian's brother and goalie of the team, Warren, received the shut-out.

Brian scored in the first period unassisted and three times in the second period with assists going to Doug Bush, Russell Doxtator with two. Brian scored again at 14:10 of the third period unassisted.

It's kind of a family team with Everett Doxtator, father of Brian, Russell and Warren, the coach of the team.

The team received the Legion Novice House League Trophy which was presented to them by Bert Bastedo.

The Bird's team won the first game 2-1 but Mike Jackson with two goals in the second game for Woodbecks was able to come back and defeat them 2-0.

Senior Citizens play and eat

There was a good turnout at Senior Citizens on Thursday. Edith Bradshaw and Fred Heasamn were the top winners. The low was a family affair, Margaret and Will Fitchett. Ethel Duffin and Helen Reid are each one year older this week. Golly to look at them you'd not believe it. Happy anniversary girls. The afternoon lunch was provided and served by Evelyn Finkle, Edna Campbell, Lil Heasman and Fanny Kane.

Our president, Fred Heasman, who always has a good understanding, left the club room with a poor one on Thursday. Someone took his rubbers. They were size eight fellows if you would like to examine your footwear.

Girl injured on highway 62

Cindy Donnan, 10, of RR2, Stirling, is recuperating in Belleville General Hospital, following injuries sustained in a collision Monday afternoon.

Cindy was riding her bike on highway 62, just north of the Ridge Road, when she was struck by a car driven by Joseph Valmont Gionet of CFB Kingston.

The car struck Cindy after she had crossed the road on her bike while her mother watched from the driveway on the west side. She rode a short distance north, and then in apparent response to something her mother said, veered back into the traffic lane, and was hit by the car.

OPP at Madoc estimated that the car may have skidded 150 feet before the impact.

Her condition was described Tuesday afternoon as satisfactory.

ADJUDICATORS APPOINTED

Adjudicators have been named for the 22nd annual Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise, May 1-4, in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

This year, the festival has secured the services of Rev. Lucester Bigby of Plainfield to adjudicate the scriptures, Mrs. Doreen Simmons of Toronto for piano, organ, vocal and choirs, and Professor Dwayne Bates of Queen's University, Kingston for band and instrumental music.

Easter services at St. Paul's

The Good Friday service at St. Paul's Church will long be remembered by the members of the congregation for the deep Spiritual effect it left on each person worshipping there.

The music of the choir, the congregational singing, along with the message given by the Rev. John May, all combined to produce this effect.

Musical numbers included: Contralto solo, "He Was Despised" sung by Jean Lyall; Anthem, "O Sacred Head" sung by full choir; Duet, "So Thou Liftest Thy Divine Petition" sung by Dick Smith and Jack Bush.

Mr. May based his meditation on the subject, "The Master." The dramatic events of Christ's Crucifixion were re-lived in this sermon which the congregation listened to with rapt attention and at its close joined in singing "Were you there when they Crucified My Lord?"

EASTER SUNDAY MORNING SERVICE

The church was filled to capacity for this service when the minister spoke on the topic "He Knows." His remarks reminded all that Jesus was tempted and tried. He was rejected and scorned. He was deprived of His earthly father when only a boy, so experienced grief and loneliness as many of us do. Through Christ, "God Knows" the trials and temptations that we experience too, and is ready and willing to help us overcome, if we but ask Him in sincerity and truth.

Musical numbers at this service were: "The Lord Omnipotent Reigneth" sung by the full choir, "The World Itself Keeps Easter Day" sung by the junior choir, Trio, "In Josephs Lovely Garden" sung by Heather Grant, Lenora West and Jean Lyall.

Easter Communion service followed the regular service.

EASTER SUNDAY EVENING

A service of songs and readings proved to be a fitting climax to the weekend. The minister spoke briefly of each day of Easter week as lived by our Lord. These were the Days of Authority, Controversy, Silence, Fellowship, The Crucifixion, The Interment, The Resurrection.

The music at this service included: Quartet, "The Easter Story" sung by Iolene Grant, Heather Grant, Jean Lyall and Christine McPhee, choir anthem "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" with Mrs. Dick Smith taking the solo part, old time hymns interspersed with new ones - "How Great Thou Art", "The Wedding Banquet" and "Lord of the Dance" were sung by the congregation. The recessional hymn was "He Lives."

On Sunday, March 26th, the thirty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rowe of Warkworth was celebrated with a surprise dinner party given to them by their family. Bantam series tied at two games apiece

By THOM REYNOLDS

Someone forgot to tell the Stirling Bantams it takes 60 minutes to play a hockey game.

In the fourth game of the best of five provincial DD playoffs against Six Nations here Monday night, the locals dropped a 6-3 decision.

Final game of the series will be played at Waterford, next Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.

The visiting team built up a 3-0 lead in the first period and added another pair of tallies in the second period before Stirling hit the scoresheet.

The local squad appeared goal-hungry right from the start of the third period -- a characteristic that was not detectable among the Stirling players during the first 40 minutes of play.

While Stirling's passing and shooting were erratic during the first two periods, Six Nations seldom missed an opportunity around the net.

Spectators quite literally were hanging from the rafters of the arena, while all spectators areas were completely jammed. Stirling fans were hoping their team would wrap up the series on home ice.

Stirling showed signs of making the needed comeback in the last period as they whittled the margin down to two goals. With the clock nearing the 60-minute mark, Stirling pulled its goalie in favor of an extra attacker, but the move backfired as Six Nations blasted the puck into the empty net.

Stirling pulled through in a tough game on Sunday afternoon, edging Six Nations in Waterford 4-3. Stirling took a 3-0 lead into the third period but allowed Six Nations to tie it up. Kevin Solmes counted the winning goal with five minutes left to play in the game.

In the Monday night clash, Six Nations scored at 6:50 of the first period when Brian Martin carried the puck in from the blue line after Stirling failed to clear it. Wayne General drew an assist.

The visitors scored again at 15:65 after the puck slid out from the corner and laid in front of the Stirling goal. Ollie Hill, with ample time, put the puck past Richard Whattam. Smith and Montour assisted.

Six Nations rounded out their first period scoring at 17:15 with a goal by Kevin Miller from Earl Reid. A defensive lapse by Stirling allowed Miller to get in on Whattam alone.

Six Nations scored at 10:40 and 15:18 of the second period to take a convincing 5-0 lead. Brian Martin, unassisted scored as he picked up a loose puck at centre and carried it in. Six Nations was short-handed at the time of the goal. Darryl Rowless carried the puck along the boards on the fifth goal by Six Nations. He was taken out of the play by Stirling's Glen Detlor but Kevin Miller was able to pick it up and carry it in past Whattam.

Stirling came out and dominated the third period, outshooting and outscoring Six Nations. Rob DeJong scored at 1:33 of the period after a scramble in front of the goal mouth. Glen Detlor and Jeff Farrell drew assists.

Stirling struck again at 8:01 with Rob DeJong pushing the puck out from the corner to Kevin Solmes who poked it in. Stan Myers also picked up an assist.

Rob DeJong fired the puck into the corner of the net at 18:42 of the period after Jeff Farrell and David Jeffs had cleared it to the front of the net. Stirling scored with a man advantage.

Brian Martin ended the scoring at 19:53 into Stirling's open net with Rockie Smith the playmaker. John Bush, Stirling goalie, had been taken out.

Even with the 6-3 defeat, Stirling managed to outshoot Six Nations 32-20.

Stirling's biggest "score" on Sunday was a crushing third period to tie it up at 3-3 but Detlor supplied the winning spark when he levelled Brian Martin, the biggest player on either team.

Kevin Solmes counted the winning goal with five minutes left in the period. It was his second goal of the afternoon. Rob DeJong scored twice in the first period. Stan Myers picked up three assists while DeJong, Solmes and Detlor each got one.

Stirling outshot Six Nations 35-22.

On Sunday afternoon in Waterford, the Bantams' ticket draw was made. The lucky ticket holder was Donald Dempsey of Belleville. The draw was for $400.

Tykes tie 2-2

A goal late in the third period by Belleville Esso Car Wash Tyke team enabled them to tie Saturday's game at 2-2. Mike Jackson and Steve Fargey scored for the Stirling Tyke team.

The team will be a participant in the Wellington Tyke Tournament this Saturday. The Stirling team's first game is at 11 a.m. against Marmora.

The local team is looking for a sponsor to buy sweaters for next year's Tykes.

Conservation Grant Approved

James A.C. Auld, Minister of the Environment and Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings, announced the approval of a provincial grant in the amount of $1,250.00 to the Moira River Conservation Authority to acquire land for the enlargement of the Ackerman Conservation Area.

The Ackerman Conservation Area comprises some seven acres of land located in the Marmora Township.

The Authority is now proposing to enlarge the area by acquisition of some 4 1/2 acres of adjoining land. This acquisition will enable the Authority to establish a service road across the entire width of Lot 6.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Conceited Son-in-Law

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

My daughter, who is 18, recently married a boy of 21. That was seven months ago. I never liked the boy because I always thought he was conceited. Now the situation seems to be getting worse day by day. My daughter tells me her husband cares more about his looks, his hair and his outward appearance than he does about her. She says, he thinks he's irresistable to everyone and believes there's no one living who's better than himself. She has tried talking to him -- to get him down off his high horse -- but every time she brings the subject up, he seems to get worse. She doesn't know what to do and is at her wit's end. She needs some advice and I don't know what to tell her.

A.N.

Dear A.N.:

The situation sounds problematical indeed. Unfortunately, the only points of view we have our your daughter's and yours. We know nothing of her husband's side of the story. What isn't clear is what those young people saw in each other and which of the two encouraged the relationship in the first place. However, if your daughter is as distressed as you indicate, it might be a good idea for her to try to get her bearings. If your town has a branch of the Family Service Society, she should be able to get some personal counseling. Or if there's a clergyman she could talk to, this might also help. And the young man, of course, should also be encouraged to tell his side of the story.

Normal Desire

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

Perhaps my problem is somewhat different from the ones you deal with. I've been a widow since age 65 and don't seem to be able to get used to living alone. Sometimes I get so lonely I could scream. I'm in good health and would marry again if I could find some nice person about my age who wanted to get married. Do you think it's normal for a woman my age to feel this way?

T.A.

Dear T.A.:

It is indeed. Many men and women, widowed in their 60's, 70's and even 80's have been known to want to marry again, and some have done so happily. (The wish to be close to another person is a very human one. And it doesn't stop at any particular age.) The practical problem of course is to find a suitable partner, which isn't always easy. There are a few good men around, however, so there's no reason why you shouldn't keep looking. While you're at it, why not busy yourself with other matters to keep from getting too lonely. You might volunteer your services at the local hospital or other community organization. You might be a foster grandmother at a foundling home. You might pursue a hobby which has long interested you. Or you might get involved in various club activities. The important thing is to stop looking at those four walls and get moving.

Easter at the Rink

Organized sports now places Sunday on the same footing as any other day of the week. Instead of being regarded as a day of rest and worship, the Lord's Day is taken as a day for pleasure.

We find this misuse of the day particularly disturbing at playoff time when youngsters are forced to stay away from church if they are to play with their team in out of town games.

For the past two Sundays, members of the Stirling Bantam hockey team have had to travel long distances for Sunday afternoon games, necessitating departures from the village prior to Sunday School.

It is entirely wrong that youngsters should be placed in the position of having to choose between attending church and playing hockey. It is not the fault of the boys that they are confronted with such a choice, but rather with the adults who scheduled the games in conflict with worship hours.

We understand the Ontario Minor Hockey Association will not force a team to play on Good Friday. It is curious that this respect does not apply to Easter.

Perhaps this could indicate that in the OMHA's view, God is dead.

A Weekly Meditation

By REV. JAMES F. McGARVEY
St. James The Minor Church, Stirling

Easter is the celebration of life; victory over death. By entering into death freely Christ conquered death, and in his resurrection has attained the fullness of life. Through faith in him his victory becomes ours, and we too can overcome death. The condition for attaining this goal is our willingness to die as Christ did. If we do so we shall share in his life also.

What is this death, this burial, into which we must enter in order to live? St. Paul says it clearly. It is death to the unfreedom of sin, death to the old, death to all that keeps us from being who we are truly meant to be for God and our fellowmen.

Thus, Easter is both a goal and a challenge. Goal, because for Christ death has been conquered. Challenge, because we are called to a new way of life, which asks a constant letting go of the old, a moving forward and beyond ourselves, a laying down of our lives as he laid down his.

The mystery of Easter, which is also the heart of Christianity, is not suffering, death, or even the cross. It is the willingness to suffer and die - for the sake of life. The cross is the means, not the end, any more than Good Friday was the end of Christ. "Behold, by the word of the cross joy has come into the whole world!" In order that this joy may come, however, we are asked to die, for there is no other way to life. We die not only once, at the end of our lives, but many times, in the small or great acts of dying that constitutes all of human living. This dying does not come easily to us, for we are made for life, not death. Yet the power to die, freely and even gladly, is given to us by Christ, who did not have to die, but chose to do so in utter freedom, out of love for us.

"He is not here, he is risen,' the angel tells the women. Yet we know that he is here, in a new way, through his spirit; through his presence in the community, through his liturgy. Thanks to this presence of Christ among us his victory becomes ours, and we are able to enter more deeply into his life and death, his life-through-death.

Stirling 4-H club meets

Stirling 4-H Club held a combined fifth and sixth meeting on March 28, in the Stirling Senior School.

The meeting came to order and opened with the 4-H Pledge. The business for each meeting was followed by a discussion on the following topics: sleeves and armhole finishes, finishing the lower edge of the sleeves, sewing in zippers, and applying elastic.

Each member worked on her garment.

Among the Books
At Stirling Public Library

The Stirling Public Library Board met for their regular monthly meeting on March 27th, and gratefully acknowledge donations received in memory of the late Mrs. M. Rose, and the late R. J. Gay. Suitable books will be placed on the shelves, for the benefit of the community, as lasting memorials.

The remaining books donated by the churches of Stirling and Rawdon have now been received. They are the three volume set of "A Picture Gallery of Canadian History" written and illustrated by C. W. Jeffrey, and "There is No Finality," by Harry Hunkin - a story of the Group of Seven, with reproductions of paintings, and information on these Canadian artists.

Other new books on our shelves are to be found in many catagories. In the fiction department, "Any Village" by Faith Baldwin, is the story of a New England community and the relationships of the villagers with the two doctors, Dr. Bing Irvington, and his son, Ben; "Melbury Square" by Dorothy Eden, is a colourful, romantic story of the beautiful debutante Maud Lucie, in fashionable London after World War 1; "St. Thomas' Eve" by Jean Plaidy, is the story of Sir Thomas More, the scholar and man of integrity, the Chancellor of England, who opposed the excesses of King Henry VIII, and lost his life as the result - a carefully researched novel bringing this historical period to life; "The House of the Deer" by D. E. Stevenson is an exciting novel of suspense set in the Highlands of Scotland; and "She'll Never get off the Ground" by Robert J. Serling is a modern story of a well qualified applicant for Trans-Coastal Airlines pilot training course, who turns out to be a young woman, and the attempts to "wash her out" without practicing obvious discrimination make a dramatic and exciting situation, with much authentic background material in the airline field. Another eagerly awaited book is "Wheels" by Arthur Hailey - based on the automobile industry and straight from the best-seller list.

New mysteries include "A Late Phoenix" by Jane Aird; "Whim to Kill" by Dell Shannon - another Luis Mendoza mystery; "Preach no More," by Richard Lockridge; "No Wind of Blame" by Georgette Heyer; "All Grass Isn't Green" by A. A. Fair; "Death in Willow Pattern" by W. J. Burley, "No Case for the Police" and "Only a Matter of Time" by V. C. Clinton-Badderley; "Do not Fold, Spindle or Mutilate" by Doris Miles Disney; "Mr. Campion's Quarry" by Youngman Carter, and "Wake All the Dead" by Sarah Kilpatrick.

Non-fiction includes "The Year of the Seal" by Victor B. Scheffer - the story of the Alaska fur seal, and the scientists - the wildlife research biologists - written with accuracy and grace by the author of the award-winning "Year of the Whale"; "Stars in their Courses" - another eminently readable book by the prolific writer Isaac Asimov - science for the layman, giving exciting glimpses in the areas of astrology, physics, chemistry and sociology; "The Americans" by David Frost brings the social scene to life through transcripts of some of his more significant interviews with influential Americans; "The Evaders" by Edmund Cosgrove is the true-life adventures of eight Canadian airmen, shot down over enemy-held territory during World War II, and their amazing escape stories.

New books for younger readers include "Boss of the Nam-ko Drive" by Paul St. Pierre; "No Word for Goodbye" by John Craig - the story of friendship between Ken Porter and Paul Onaman - an Objibway Indian boy; "Up a Road Slowly" by Irene Hunt - a girl's growing-up years, by the author of "Across Five Aprils;" "The Painted Garden" by Noel Streatfeild, "Blue Bystery" by Margot Benary-Isbert. Non fiction includes "Make It Yourself" by Bernice Wells Carlson - a handcraft book; "The Story of Rodents" by Dorothy Shuttlesworth, and "Into the woods beyond" by Cy Hampson - both nature books with attractive illustrations and photographs.

For our youngest readers, new picture books include "Momo's Kitten", "Two Hundred Rabbits," "The Little Island", "Angus and the Ducks," Contrary Jenkins; and "The Little Hen of Huronia" by Chip Young, a tale of the time of Father Brebeuf and the Jesuits, "Mary of Mile 18" by Ann Blades - the story of a little girl living in an isolated area off the Alaska Highway; "Thomasina and the Trout Tree" by Joan Clark - Tomasina searches for the Trout Tree, and solves a problem.

We hope to bring more new titles to your attention soon, until then - Happy Reading!

Snowmobilers funny people

A snowmobiler, you know, is an odd sort of creature. We saw a little piece the other day that shows you just how odd he really is.

A typical snowmobiler is:

A person who is too old for a sled but young enough to remember the fun it used to be:
A person who prays for snow and grumbles while shovelling the walk:
A person who waits for cold weather so he can dress up to stay warm:
A person who will completely overhaul a snowmobile out in the middle of nowhere and call A.A.A. when his car won't start in a heated garage:
A person who rides the lumps and bumps of a field with enjoyment and complains about the holes in the streets:
A person who says he bought the machine for the kids, but complains when he can't get a babysitter so he can go riding:
A person who can't get old Bessy in the garage at night because there isn't room, unless he slides the snowmobile out:
A person who will drive a warm car a block to the grocery store for his favorite steak and ride a cold snowmobile 10 miles for a burnt wiener:
A person who will get caught on the highway without a spare tire in his car, but will have enough spare parts in his snowmobile to build another machine:
A person who is glad to see June because he knows it's only six months until winter again.

Some labor answers

By LYNN JONES

With the general election shuffle game still very much in evidence, we feel that either the Liberals or Conservatives could make a lot of friends and earn possible votes, if they could come up with a positive policy to extricate Canada from the labor mess in which we are constantly caught.

Every time one reads the latest headlines in the newspapers, or watches any major television newscast, labor strife seems to capture most of the attention. The worst feature is that it is not ordinary strikes that cause the trouble, it is each side's attempts to define their action and the wildcat strikes that ultimately come along to wreck what are usually peaceful strikes.

We do not question the right to strike. Labor unions have, over the past several decades, done immeasurable good for the working man. Some times costly, bitter strikes have been the price of some gains. This was not popular with many, but needed to be done. We personally feel, in the present day economic situation, no one really wins in strikes. Sure the workers get a pay raise, but consider how long it will take to recover the lost weeks of wages, even considering strike pay, or pay back the money it was necessary to borrow to meet finance payments during the strike.

As monetary issues still seem to be paramount in each negotiation situation, we feel that the government should step in and lay down some basic guidelines for all negotiations. These should be binding on both sides, and the Canadian union leadership made responsible, if they aren't now, then some that are. One of the major interruptions in our labor scene is often waiting for orders from union headquarters, before the Canadian group can go ahead with any action.

As all contracts have a definite expiry date, we feel that at a stipulated time before it, say a month, or perhaps two, both sides should be required to set down their demands and offers for the upcoming contract. There should be bargaining for a reasonable time, and then of course a strike vote permitted, and a strike take place if warranted. But all the members should be on strike, and subsist on strike pay, if any, and no moonlighting. After all, these fellows are going on strike for more pay, so the union should be prepared to finance the strike, without having their members going around seeking work which they would quite possibly do all deduction free, as it would be for private individuals and thus non-reportable.

Once the strike has commenced there should be some formula for conciliation or arbitration proceedings, which would continue until the impasse was resolved. The members would still have the right to reject the settlement and stay on strike, or accept it and go back to work.

The other factor that becomes a nuisance, is that quite often a settlement is reached, and details reach the press and subsequently the membership, before any ratification vote is taken. Quite often the union negotiators feel the settlement is fair but the way the facts get distributed, members get untrue pictures and details, and by the time the vote to accept or reject comes, they are bitterly opposed, and vote thus.

We feel all settlements should be held strictly confidential until ratified or rejected. This way, the union team could make its case for or against, without the distortion that is otherwise bound to creep in.

Canada cannot afford the luxury of the hodge-podge of present labor strife. If any political party had the ability and desire to legislate reasonable methods for these disputes, it would probably win a lot of friends quite quickly, save the people money in the long run and show we have grown up to handle our own affairs.

Our politicians can find lots of time to participate in petty squabbles between themselves. Why not do something a little bit constructive for all of us?

Guide News

On March 22 the Girl Guides from Stirling Company took part in a sight-seeing bus trip which took in Crane Company, Donut Company of America and Domtar Paper Mill, all of Trenton.

Their first stop was Crane Co. and there they viewed how sinks and toilets are made. This was very interesting showing the different operations in making them and the many varieties of colors to choose from. A sample ash tray was given to each guide.

The next stop was to the Donut Company of America. Here the group toured the building and was shown the different operations in making the product. It was interesting to watch the big machines mix up the donut mix and bag them to be sent out. A sample donut awaited them at the end of the tour.

The Guides then proceeded to Domtar Paper Mill. They watched how the logs come in and are ground up into fine pieces. They were then mixed with paper and water and then after different operations it is made into large rolls of paper, some weighing 1,650 pounds.

All of these tours were very interesting and informative.

Feed to build increased production & profit when they join the milking herd

A small extra investment in feeding heifers can pay off in a big way when they freshen.

First of all, well grown heifers can be bred to freshen early . . . at 24 months or less. They'll have the body condition they need to produce a healthy calf and a heavy flow of milk.

They'll not only repay their growing costs, but can start earning a good profit for you in their first lactation. Important, too, heifers which produce well in their first lactation continue to be high producers over a long milking life.

Add up the benefits. You'll be money-ahead to give your herd replacements the 100% chance they need to develop their full potential. We can help you plan a feeding program for your future herd replacements. Give us a call — or stop in today.

COUNCIL ASKED TO RECONSIDER ZONING CHANGE

William Morton has again made application to Stirling village council to have a property on the north side of St. James St. re-zoned to permit the erection of multiple housing.

Last fall, Mr. Morton was turned down in his bid, as 10 residents, of the 47 who live within 400 feet of his property, objected to the proposal. It was agreed by all councillors Monday that many of these objections were not really valid ones, although one or two might be.

At that time, Mr. Morton planned to construct an apartment building on the site.

After discussing the matter with Mr. Morton at length, council took the matter up again later in the meeting. Although no vote was taken, council did agree to table the matter until the next meeting, April 24. Reeve Robert Anderson told Mr. Morton he would talk to the Department of Municipal Affairs Tuesday to see what could be done.

The crux of the whole issue is that Stirling has an official plan pending approval by the minister of Municipal Affairs, and has had for some time. At issue between the department and Stirling is the Toronto recommendations on one or two parcels which Stirling wants designated one way and the government another. Until this official plan is approved by the Minister, the accompanying zoning bylaw, which is causing Mr. Morton his trouble, cannot be amended. There are also several other changes being held up by the same issue.

If Mr. Morton is to build his apartment, the land, located in a residential area, on St. James St. needs to be re-zoned for this purpose. In order to assess the merits of the objections, a hearing would be held by the Ontario Municipal Board, and then give a ruling. The OMB will not grant a hearing until these other matters are resolved.

Council has also taken the position, more than once, without voting, that unless the plan is approved, then perhaps the zoning bylaw should be rescinded. This would allow all these amendments to proceed. It was generally agreed Monday that if there is not some concrete decision or promise of one from the department by the next meeting, that things must be resolved, and the zoning bylaw will quite likely be rescinded.

The other side of the argument, as far as council is concerned, is that planning in some form is coming, whether accepted or forced. The present plans in Toronto are Stirling's initial step in this direction. Council would rather see the plan approved, and then take the appropriate action required as cases arise, but are being thwarted at every turn by the red tape.

HOUSING COMPLEX NEARING COMPLETION

The Ontario Housing Corporation's low rental housing project in Stirling is nearing completion. The new development, located on Church St., will provide low cost rental housing for senior citizens. Workmen have been busy applying the finishing touches to the interior and exterior of the building. No date has been announced as to when the units will be ready for occupancy.

OHC caretaker plan will be protested

Stirling councillors will make it clear to Ontario Housing Corporation this week that they will not tolerate present plans to install a man from Belleville as resident caretaker at the low-rental unit being constructed on Church St.

Reeve Robert Anderson told council Monday night he had been talking with a representative of the government agency which is building the 24-unit structure, and the plans were to rent one of the units to a Belleville man, and although not on salary, he would likely receive a rent rebate as caretaker. This would involve only inside work, such as keeping the common room clean, cleaning floors, and putting out garbage.

The reeve said he had examined the present applications and talked to one Stirling man who is eligible for the housing and would be willing to do the chores as well. "It's absolutely ridiculous," was the Reeve's comment on the situation.

Graham Mouck, who discussed several matters with council, said he had discussed the matter with Clarke Rollins, MPP for Hastings, and has been assured that if the matter cannot be resolved locally, he will take the matter up with the agency in Toronto.

It was announced that 10 of the first 12 units are nearly finished and will be ready for occupancy this spring. The remaining two will not be available for some time, as they will be the connecting units with the second phase of the project.

In connection with the caretaker situation, it was noted that applicants must be a resident of the village to be eligible for admittance.

Minister to decide Highway 14 future

The reconstruction of Highway 14 between Stirling and Marmora as well as the general future of the road, will depend on the success that Clarke Rollins has in getting the Minister of Transportation and Communication to come and personally view the situation.

During the past several months, there has been a concerted campaign to get the road between Stirling and Campbellford and on to the village of Hastings upgraded to a provincial highway. The department has stated that it will accept no new road commitments, meaning that were the east-west road taken over, Highway 14 would probably revert to the county for upkeep.

During conversations with Reeve Robert Anderson and local Progressive Conservative chairman, Graham Mouck, Mr. Rollins stated that with the recent Cabinet shifts at Queen's Park, the minister is not aware of the situation, and will only do what his civil service staff suggests in these matters.

Stirling is supposed to approach county council and get it to present the case to Toronto as well.

Six Nations takes series

(By THOM REYNOLDS)

Stirling Bantams bowed out of their OMHA "DD" final series on Sunday when Six Nations won the fifth and deciding game 8-4 in Waterford.

Jay Silverheels, who gained television fame as the Lone Rangers' "faithful Indian companion Tonto", dropped the opening puck in Sunday's battle. The teams were tied at two games apiece before the match.

Six Nations led off the scoring in the first period with three goals. Stirling was outshot in the period 12-2 by Six Nations.

Stirling tied the score with three goals within seven minutes in the second period, but a power-play goal before the period ended, gave Six Nations a 4-3 lead. Six Nations went on the pickup four goals in the third period with Stirling potting one.

Kevin Solmes picked up two goals, Robert DeJong one goal, and Mark Dobson one goal. Glen Detlor received two assists while Stan Myers and David Jeffs picked up an assist each.

It was a satisfying victory for the winners who had been defeated in the OMHA Pee Wee final two years ago by virtually the same Stirling team.

Four new members join St. Andrews'

There was a large attendance at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday when three different functions of service took place.

Mrs. Harry Morrow presided at the organ for the music consisting of the hymns, "O blessed is the man whose sins," and "Here O my Lord."

Rev. Roy A. Taylor, C.D., L.Th. gave an impressive sermon entitled, "Christ looks to the future." The Scripture lesson was Exodus 12:11-17.

At the beginning of the service four new members were received into the church, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery, Stirling, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowley, Frankford.

Following the receiving of the members, six young folk were baptized, Robert Dale and William James, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery; Carol Anne and Karen June, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Craighead; David Nelson and Donald John, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowley.

The celebration of the Sacrament of Holy Communion took place at the close of the service.

Following worship, everyone retired to the basement for a social get-together. A committee from the Presbyterian Church Women served coffee and cookies.

Rawdon fire

The barn and over 250 animals owned by Carmen Mastin, R.R. 1, Stirling, were destroyed in a fire that broke out just after noon on Sunday. The family was away visiting friends in the Tweed area, and were not located until the blaze had levelled the premises.

Malcolm Mason, Fire Chief of Rawdon Township Fire Department, told the News-Argus that 175 small pigs, 30 sows and 50 head of cattle were lost, along with the barn. The loss is estimated at $25,000, and there was very little insurance.

The fire was first spotted by Kenneth Mumby and the alarm turned in by a neighbor, Cecil Mack. By the time the firemen arrived, it was too late to do anything except prevent the flames spreading to other nearby buildings.

Chips from the scribe's block

A very efficient Harem consisting of Mary Cook, Luella Bronson, Mabel Brooks and Myrtle Tanner did the spade work for the tasty lunch at Senior Citizens provided by Fred Heasman, Will Johnson and Gord Bailey. We were happy to welcome Delia Descent and Blanche Reed back after a short absence.

A reading given by Fred Heasman was well received. It was something about - your get up and go has got up and gone.

Edna Campbell and George Heasman were tops at euchre while Evelyn Finkle and Gord Bailey took the lower berth. The rest of us didn't want to show off so we just lost happily.

A LIVELY BOY

This manly young fellow regarding the photographer with a mixture of caution and interest is Tommy, who will soon be five.

Of Ojibway Indian and Anglo-Saxon background, Tommy is a tall, slim boy with big brown eyes, dark hair and olive skin. He is in good heath, except for a heart murmur, which is considered to be of no significance. He has scars from burns on his right shoulder and left wrist.

Tommy is an alert youngster whose searching eyes seem to miss nothing. On first acquaintance, he appears to be rather placid but really he is a normal four-year-old with all the bounce and verve associated with that age. He mixes well with children his own age and can be quite communicative with adults when he feels he knows them. them.

Rather an independent child who likes to do things his own way, Tommy is most responsive to affection.

Tommy would rather be outdoors than in, both winter and summer, but if he must stay inside he entertains himself well with his toys or with children's TV programs.

This engaging boy needs loving parents who will appreciate both his lively personality and his Indian background.

To inquire about adopting Tommy, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

DOLLARS & GOOD SENSE

In answer to a reader's question, I will discuss some of the steps involved in buying a home on mortgage, which is the way most of us to about buying a home.

First there's the application. This document simply identifies the property in question and gives some basic facts about you. After approval, which will probably require a credit check, you'll receive a loan commitment form which describes the terms and amount of the loan.

The property appraisal is made on the lender's behalf, but works for the buyer too. Although the lender can't disclose the appraisal, a suggestion for a higher down payment would indicate that the appraisal showed the property to be over-valued.

The property survey is paid for by the buyer generally and simply indicates the exact boundaries and measurements of your property. The title search protects the lender and buyer by searching for any claims or liens on the previous owner of the property. A clear report indicates that your title rights are secure.

Hazard insurance is necessary to protect the lender against fire or other catastrophy but also will protect you more and more as your interest in the property grows. It is a good idea, however, for the buyer to get expanded insurance coverage to protect contents and other liabilities.

Escrow funds are set up for the payment of taxes and insurance. These "impound" accounts hold funds paid by the home buyer to the lender, which makes payment as the bills become due.

Finally, the closing of escrow, depending on where you live, will usually involve the buyer turning over any funds that may be necessary to complete the down payment. The buyer will also sign a note and mortgage from the lender which will then turn the funds over to the seller. The seller then turns the home over to you and presents you with the keys.

Combined band formed

The Cobourg Legion Branch 133 Pipe Band and the Duke of Edinburgh Unit, Army, Navy and Air Force Pipe Band, Belleville, are combining to produce a Competition Band.

The new band, known as the Belleville-Cobourg Pipe Band, has been formed to compete at Highland Games throughout the summer, leading up to the Scottish World Festival in Toronto, August 17-20, 1972.

It is hoped that in the long run this venture can benefit all Pipe Bands in the area.

The two "parent" Bands will continue to fulfill their normal obligations playing for parades and teaching interested people of all ages. To help defray expenses the Belleville-Cobourg Pipe Band is presenting a Highland Ball this month with dancing to the music of the Commodores Orchestra.

Dress is optional but those who can are encouraged to wear Highland Dress.

There will be a bar, spot dances and door prizes.

The Forest Fires Prevention Act - 1968

The 1972 Fire Season in Tweed District began on April 1st and will continue to October 31st.

During the Fire Season a Fire Permit is required before setting out fire to dispose of grass, brush or other debris. A Fire Permit is also required to ignite fireworks within 1000 feet of a forest or woodland. A Work Permit is required to conduct an operation which is liable to create a fire hazard in the woods.

Under the new Forest Fires Prevention Act, 1968, it is unlawful to smoke while walking or working in a forest or woodland.

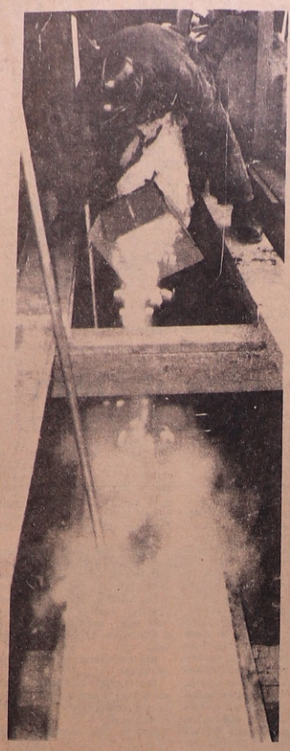
THE BIG FREEZE



A bane of early aviators, the frozen oil line, was recently put to good use in downtown Toronto by an Ontario Hydro cable crew. The men wanted frozen oil lines so badly, they used a giant cocktail of 60,000 pounds of dry ice and 450 gallons of alcohol.

The mix was served up in troughs placed around pressurized pipes containing oil-insulated, 115,000-volt underground transmission cables between two transformer stations. At –40 C the oil formed "frost plugs" at six points in the pipe and allowed the crew to open the cable sheathing between them.

Cable from a new transformer station could then be spliced in between the plugs without leakage, pressure loss, or damage from moisture-laden air.

After the splices were completed, the air between the plugs was vacuumed out and the plugs allowed to thaw, refilling the pipe with oil.

This first for Ontario and Ontario Hydro made it possible to bring the new transformer station into service with minimum disruption of power service.

Ministry to be the new title

On April 1, the old designation of department will disappear from the provincial government giving way to the new one of ministry, and as a result we will become the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

The Ontario Government has decided to use the term ministry to refer to the various organizational units that report to a cabinet minister. Under the new organization, there will be 17 ministries as opposed to the present 20 departments.

The necessary changes to the new name will be phased over a period of time as outlined in an official circular now being distributed.

Premier William Davis emphasized that while these changes in government structure are extremely far-reaching, they will in no way impair or diminish the quality or quantity of service to the public. In the long run, he said, they will greatly improve such service. At the same time, every effort is being made to ensure that the immediate costs of change are minimized and that civil servants are not adversely affected.

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications, along with the five Ministries of Agriculture and Food, Environment, Labour, Natural Resources and Industry and Tourism, will all come under the general grouping of Resources Development Policy Field under the direction of the Honourable Bert Lawrence.

The Driver and Vehicle Licensing functions are to remain in the Ministry of Transportation and Communications instead of being transferred to the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (Public Protection) as was first suggested under the proposed changes.

The one group to move from DTC is the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Office which will move to the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations.

There are two other major policy fields — the Social Development Policy Field under the Honourable Robert Welch and the Justice Policy Field under the Honourable Allan Lawrence.

The Social Development Policy Field will incorporate the following four Ministries — Colleges and Universities; Education; Health; and Community and Social Services.

Four Ministries will come under the Justice Policy Field — Attorney General; Correctional Services; Consumer and Commercial Relations; and Solicitor General.

Three Ministries remain as separate entities, under the Honourable Darcy McKeough's direction

Cancer can be beaten.
APRIL IS CANCER SOCIETY MONTH
WHAT IS CANCER?
Cancer is not one disease but a group of diseases characterized by the disorganized and unregulated growth of abnormal body cells. In many cases there is a favorable response to modern methods of treatment if diagnosis is made before signs of spread are evident. All tumors are not cancer - some "benign" growths may begin in different organs of the body and reach a considerable size. They do not spread but, as with cancer, the earlier treated, the better.

Drugs - Handle With Care

A revised edition of the popular "Drugs -- Handle With Care" has recently been released by the new Health Protection Branch of the Health and Welfare Department. The new bilingual booklet carries the message that drugs are precious commodities for use in treating diseases and must always be handled with care and caution. Updated information on drug safety and a new format with cartoon illustrations make up the "Drugs -- Handle With Care" revision.

The dangers of drug misuse are discussed in the booklet and effective safeguards are suggested. It urges consumers to read and heed label directions on self-medication products and to carefully follow doctor's directions on prescription drugs. A warning against the dangers of driving, or operating machinery while taking certain drugs such as tranquilizers, is pointed out. It's also risky to take several different drugs at the same time without consulting a physician or a pharmacist.

There is healthful advice in the booklet about taking home remedies. Reaching for a pill at the first feeling of pain or discomfort or the prolonged use of any medicine without the advice of a doctor may eventually cause trouble to the user. The booklet stresses also the importance of always keeping drugs in a safe place away from the prying tendencies of little children.

Drugs may harm or help you, it depends on you, says the booklet and ends with the terse reminder -- Drugs save lives -- It's their misuse that kills.

Copies of the bilingual booklet, Drugs -- Handle With Care, may be obtained by writing to Educational Services, Health Protection Branch, Department of Health and Welfare, Ottawa, or contact the regional consultant, Educational Services, Health Protection Branch, in your area.

A Weekly Meditation

Visions of His Coming
(By Mrs. E.L. Wilcox)

Beloved, our Lord is coming soon; yes, He's coming back again, I know, for a few years ago I was in the Spirit and a group of people were standing, watching in the early dimness of dawn when there appeared a bright cloud in the East approaching rapidly and hovering a few hundred feet above the earth. It opened up, revealing Jesus and the Angels. We started to ascend and I looked back to see if my husband was coming too, and I quickly settled back toward earth. I at once looked up saying, "Jesus, Jesus!" and began going up to the cloud.

Sometime later another vision occured. This time I was in a church and it was evening. The minister was dressed in black and sat beside the pulpit. Suddenly the place was filled with white clouds and the congregation arose, their garments becoming robes as they stood up. But not all were changed. The minister sat there unmoved as were quite a number of his people. We went up. They were left behind.

Are you ready when the Lord shall come? Will you welcome Him, or cry for the rocks and mountains to hide you? Remember the Scriptures: Two shall be griding at the mill; one will be taken and the other left. Two shall be in the field; one will be taken, the other left; and two shall be in a bed, the one shall be taken and the other left.

I feel that the time is ripe for sharing these visions. Perhaps they will be a warning to those who have grown weary awaiting the coming of our Saviour. Then too, there may be those who are putting off salvation to a more convenient time.

"Be ye ready, for in an hour ye think not, the Son of man cometh." Matthew 24:44.

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

A leash for red dog....

No, red dog is not an Irish setter.

It's the stuff in the air around some feed and grain mills that makes life miserable for the neighbors. And one feed mill operator found a quick way to become a better neighbor.

He took some burlap -- there's always lots of that on hand in a mill -- and nailed it on wood frames to cover the buildings ventilators. The way it worked out, his impromptu air filters even have a self-cleaning action.

A light breeze shades the fabric and the red dog sifts down to the floor under the vents.

My point is that it's not always expensive to control air pollution.

Some people even find it profitable.

Photographic laboratories have been processing their used chemicals for years, recovering silver from their dark-room solutions instead of letting this precious metal flow into our waters as silver salts.

One small plant I know spent $600 on recovery equipment for silver and paid for it in six months. They made $500 profit on recovered metal in the next six months.

We should all stop and think before unloading our waste on the world. If we can't use it, maybe somebody else can.

In the photographic industry, there are firms which buy old sheet film in quantity, recover the silver from it and use the acetate film base for such things as wallet windows.

Almost everything is re-used and the amount of waste to dump into the environment is cut to an absolute minimum.

What do you do with the wood when you cut down dead elm trees?

A lot of people just burn it. But sawmills, veneer plants and at least one pulp and paper firm buy elm. That's a profit that could otherwise go up in smoke.

And smoke could be hazardous to your health, expecially if you have heart or lung problems.

In a number of places, industries have put pollution controls into operation and found byproducts in material or energy that offset or completely cover the cost of the controls.

I know of people who suffer every Fall because their neighbors insist on burning their leaves, damp or dry, without considering who has to breathe the smoke.

Then those some neighbors turn around and buy fertilizer, soil conditioners and compost for their gardens and lawns.

Composting isn't that much trouble. Just pile the leaves, turn them now and then and in a few weeks they are ready for use.

It's not exactly a private silver mine.

But it stops an annoying local air pollution problem and it saves buying compost and soil conditioners.

Nobody has money to burn.

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

Mrs. Philip Conley was hostess for the annual meeting of River Valley Women's Institute held at the Centre on Thursday, April 6.

At 12:45 p.m. the convenors and members of two groups, Home Economics and Historical Research, provided a delicious hot dinner topped off with several luscious desserts. The Friendship Link with Abbot's Leigh W.I. in England was instituted in 1939. Mrs. MacMullen has been Link secretary since 1950. During the past year she sent six airmail letters and several parcels of printed material to England. River Valley W.I. made 48 bookmarks as individual Christmas gifts and they were distributed in England by Mrs. Coombs at their Christmas meeting. The English group set River Valley members shopping bags at Christmas.

Mrs. Roy Bush, curator, said 22 pictures had been added to the Tweedsmuir History book. Several items had been typed and added to the school section. The book had been displayed four times at the public school and several members of the committee accompanied her on these trips.

Mrs. Glenn Bennett brought her Grade Four pupils to the Centre and Ernest Rosebush displayed his collection of Indian relics. The children fashioned River Valley out of the wilderness. There was one program during the year. The value of the book for the year's pictures was $49.82. The duties of the Tweedsmuir history committee were read by the assistant curator and this stressed that the book must be given good care and outlined the rules for same.

The A.C.W.W. convenor reported for the penny fund. At the May meeting the members are asked to bring plants, home baking and other articles for sale. They are to put on a suggested price and proceeds will go towards the Friendship pennies. A.C.W.W. has a great need to promote their work. Gloria Harry collected the pennies.

Plans were made to have an executive meeting at the Centre at 9:15 a.m., Tuesday, April 11 to choose the groups. A committee was appointed to buy gifts for members when they were in hospital.

Mrs. Ross Bush conducted the election and installation.

Several members paid their dues.

Letter to the editor

R.R. 4, Marmora,
April 10, 1972.

The Editor:
Dear Sir,

The executive of the Farm Services Club in this area has arranged an "Urban Night" in an effort to promote better understanding between Urban and rural people.

I would like to draw attention to a situation which often arises on our highways, especially during the spring and summer months.

Motorists get very annoyed with tractor drivers who stick to the paved portion of the highway, often making it hard for the faster moving car to pass them.

They feel, quite rightly, that the tractor was made to cope with a great deal rougher going then it would be likely to encounter on the highway shoulder. What they do not realize is that these shoulders are often littered with broken bottles; this makes a man very reluctant to risk his tires among the broken glass.

It does not have to be a very big rear tire to cost $150, and it is not advisable to use a new tire in conjunction with a part worn one because of the uneven traction which results.

I would often be glad to drive along the shoulder when using the highway, and to leave the pavement to the motorists.

The horn blowing, the glares, and the obvious anger that I encounter from a motorist that I have held up for some distance does not please me at all.

However, as unpleasant as these things are, they are preferable to buying two new rear tires. The bottles on the shoulder can only be there because they are thrown there by passing motorists.

Perhaps if the car driver understands why the farmer avoids driving on the shoulder he will be less impatient, and maybe in some cases, less likely to throw his empty bottles onto the shoulder.

Yours sincerely,
W.E. Wilson.

Utman - Teal

On Saturday, April 1 at 4 p.m. St. John's United Church Campbellford, was the setting for the marriage of Edith Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Teal of Campbellford and Peter Alan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Utman of Stirling. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Gordon Ballantyne.

Large standards of white 'mums and pink gladioli and candelabra decorated the church. Organ music was supplied by Rick Pritchard.

The bride entered the church to the strains of "Trumpet Voluntaire" by J. Clarke with Wayne McComb as trumpet soloist. Vocal soloist was Miss Debra McBride who sang Handel's "Wedding Hymn" prior to the ceremony and "Where're You Walk" also by Handel, during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin peau with empire waist set with Guipure lace and seed pearls. The wedding ring collar was trimmed with matching lace and seed pearls and the long narrow sleeves were also trimmed with lace and self-covered buttons. The back of the dress ended in a small chapel train. A long chapel veil made of pure silk organza fell softly from a headpiece of Guipure lace set with seed pearls and small auraborialis. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink rose, white carnations and white stephonotis.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Ceryl Vandervoort of Toronto, sister of the groom. She wore a gown of shrimp polyester crepe, fashioned with long full sleeves gathered by wide buttoned cuffs, a high rounded neckline and natural waistline trimmed with matching velvet ribbon. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Adena Kincaid of Kingston and Miss Luanne Teal of Campbellford, sisters of the bride, Miss Karen Thompson and Miss Vicki Petherick of Campbellford, friends of the bride. Their gowns were fashioned similar to that of the matron of honour in a polyester crepe in shades of shrimp print. All wore Swiss mohair straw braid hats in matching shrimp trimmed with bands of the floral print. They carried baskets of pink carnations, white 'mums and baby's breath.

Attending the groom was his brother-in-law, Robert Vandervoort, of Toronto. Ushers were Walter Kincaid, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bride, Gary Utman, Stirling, brother of the groom, Gerry Locklin, Peterborough, cousin of the bride, and Wayne McMullen, Stirling, friend of the groom.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church auditorium where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a gown of pink poly-nylon trimmed with pink beads and auraborialis.

She wore silver accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta with white lace bodice and sleeves. She wore silver accessories and a corsage of yellow and white carnations.

At the reception, Gordon Locklin of Kinston, uncle of the bride, acted as master of ceremonies. Miss McBride sange the theme song from "Love Story." Wayne Gunter proposed the toast to the bride, and Henry Oliver proposed a toast to the mothers of the bride and groom.

Later in the evening the new Mr. and Mrs. Utman received their guests at a dance in the Legion Hall where the music was provided for the occassion by Peter Battman's orchestra.

The bride and groom left the dance for a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania. For travelling the bride chose a coat-dress ensemble of yellow lace over taffeta. She wore black acessories and a corsage of yellow and white carnations.

Out of town guests attended from Stirling, Frankford, Belleville, Foxobor, Marmora, Kingston, Peterborough, Colborne, Cobourg, Port Hope, Whitby, St. Ola, and Toronto.

Prior to the marriage the bride was honored at two showers, one given by Miss Karen Thompson and Miss Vicki Petherick; the other by Mrs. Mel McKeown, Mrs. Wayne Gunter, and Mrs. Bruce Barnum; at a supper party given by her fellow employees of the Royal Bank in Campbellford; and at a prenuptial tea given in her honor by Mrs. Walter Morrow of Frankford, grandmother of the groom. Following the rehearsal, the groom's parents entertained the members of the wedding party at their home in Stirling.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Student Benefits

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm a 41-year old widow who has never had a job outside the home. My only child, a daughter, is a college freshman who'll be 18 in a few months. Ever since my husband passed away, I've been receiving social security checks regularly, which also include student benefits for my daughter. I understand that if she plans to continue her education full-time after 18—and she does—she can keep getting those benefits until she's 22. But I'm not clear about myself. I'm not sure if my own benefits will continue.

M.H.

Dear M.H.:

According to the social security people, the benefits you've been receiving since your husband's death are designed to help a widowed mother support her young children until they grow up and can support themselves. You're right about your daughter's benefits. They can go on until she's 22, provided she continues full-time as a student and does not marry before then. They say, however, that your own benefits will stop as soon as your daughter reaches the age of 18. Later on—if your own marital status remains the same—you may apply for the benefits designed for older widows. For details on this, why not phone or visit your social security offices. You'll find them listed in the phone book.

Possible Pregnancy

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'd like to know if pregnancy is possible after the completion of the menopause. That is, can ovulation still take place after menstruation is no longer evident? Although I'm 52 and haven't had a period in more than four years, I feel very unsure about the whole thing. I'd appreciate any advice you might have.

J.C.

Dear J.C.:

This question comes up time and time again with mature women, who just don't know whether or not they are safe from pregnancy at their age. Doctors tell us, however, that a woman who has not had a period for 12 months is in the menopause and past her childbearing years. (Since her ovaries are no longer fully operational then, she stops ovulating and is no longer able to conceive.) At the same time, her body's supply of female hormones—which the ovary had produced—may be diminishing and may therefore need to be replaced. That determination must, of course, be made by her doctor. (If he prescribes estrogen replacement, this will help restore her hormonal balance but won't bring back her earlier fertility.) Since you yourself haven't had a period for four years, it would be safe to assume now that pregnancy is no longer a possibility for you. But why not see your doctor in any case and have a complete general checkup?

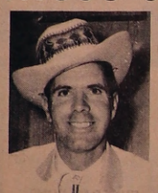
SPRING SERVICE SPECIALS

"Why you likely need these specials



Our Service Manager, GEORGE LOSHAW:

"Even before we see your car, we'll hazard a guess that you need a wheel alignment.

"The fact is, every car does from time to time. Normal road vibration gradually puts the front wheels out of alignment. Hitting a curb or other obstacle can make it happen all at once.

"If it gets bad enough, you'll feel it in the handling of your car. But before you notice it, the damage may have been done. To your tires. Because faulty alignment is murder on tires.

"If the wheels don't track true, the tires are scrubbed and scraped along the road. Wheel wobble gouges out chunks of tread rubber. If the camber (or wheel slope) is wrong, you're riding on the outer or inner edges of the tires. Toe in or toe out does more damage.

"It doesn't take many miles of that kind of punishment to finish off a tire. Thousands of miles too soon.

"But tire wear isn't all the damage that faulty alignment can cause. Wheel vibration can shake up other parts of your Riding System. To cause even more trouble.

"So it certainly makes sense to have your alignment problem solved. Now. Especially since we'll do it right, for only $8.89."

SPRING FLOODING IN DOWNTOWN STIRLING, CIRCA 1930

Before new drainage systems and water routes were constructed, flooding would occur during the spring run off in downtown Stirling. The top photo is a view looking west on Mill St. The Legion Cenotaph and park is on the left of the picture. The bottom photo was taken looking west from the town parking lot on Front St. The building to the left of the middle of the picture now houses John's Dairy store. The photos, taken in the mid 1930's, were submitted by Mrs. Sid Williams

Roads prime segment of system

Cutbacks in road subsidy levels are only one part of government expenditure reductions being introduced this year, Prime Minister William Davis told delegates at the official opening of the Ontario Good Roads Association's 78th Convention in Toronto.

But, he emphasized, these measures should not be interpreted as meaning that the province is getting out of the road-building industry.

"While the emphasis is shifting toward a balanced transportation system, good roads will continue to be a prime segment of that system for many years, and especially in the rural areas of our province," he said.

As a stimulant toward such a system, he reminded representatives from all parts of the province, that the government has increased its subsidies up to 75 per cent of cost for studies to include other forms of transportation than roads.

Road subsidy reductions, said the Prime Minister, are "due in part to the increasing demands being made on government in the field of social and welfare services — a demand that indicates the direction in which the economy has been travelling in the past year and a half.

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT

CO-OP (BY JACK WOOD)

The grain corn growers have had to face a year of markets that reflect ample supplies. A great deal of corn from 1971 is still in commercial and on-farm storage. Naturally the farmers would like to market it before the 1972 crop comes off.

From a feed manufacturer's point of view, corn quality has an important bearing on the feed. It should be cool and sweet and free from mold; clean and free from cob, with maximum damage not over 7%; cracked kernels and other foreign material should not be over 5% and the moisture not over 15 1/2%. Some of the formulas produced these days need high corn content and this has an effect on the pelleting process.

Pellet durability or hardness is necessary to control the development of "fines" in the finished product. The starch portion of the corn contains gluten that helps to act as a binder in the pelleting process. To get the gluten to work it must be heated to 180F. - 200F. It is also important to have some moisture in the mash in the pellet mill conditioning chamber, where, along with the starch, it acts as a lubricant in extruding feed through the mill die.

The absolute maximum total moisture level of the mash is 17%. If it is higher the pellet mill temperature never reaches the desired temperature and a poor quality pellet results. Consequently, if corn higher than 16-16 1/2% moisture is received, then some of the corn in the ration must be substituted with wheat, to produce a quality pellet.

High moisture in corn storage also provides ideal environment for mold growth. If the mold is heavy enough it destroys the corn from a feed standpoint. Odour is affected, and some molds produce toxic substances that can kill poultry when fed to birds. For farmers wanting to market their grain for feed, then it is important to have low moisture content.

Subsidy program is substantial

With over $100,000,000 already allotted to municipal construction subsidies, and more to be allocated, Ontario will still have a substantial road subsidy program, Deputy Minister A. T. C. McNab said in a message to the Ontario Good Roads Association Convention.

"We have found in the past that for a variety of reasons, a significant number of municipalities have not spent all the money allotted to them in any year," he revealed.

This over-optimism on the part of municipalities to undertake projects has been a great concern, he said, because funds could not be re-allocated in time for other municipalities to use them within the construction season.

SCHOOL LEVY WILL BE UP FOR 1972

D.R. Williams of Stirling, chairman of the Hastings County Board of Education, said yesterday there is no doubt that the village's school levy for 1972 will be higher than for last year.

The main reason for the increase, he explained, is that the surplus Stirling carried into the county system was used up last year.

The surplus was applied against last year's levy, on orders from the Ontario Department of Education, Mr. Williams went on to explain.

As a result of the surplus being put to use last year, Stirling rate payers paid less school costs in 1971 than they did the previous year, said Mr. Williams.

Although the department has said that the 1972 levy must not be more than one mill higher than it was a year ago, this ceiling does not take into consideration any relief the village enjoyed from the surplus applied in 1971, he explained.

"The rate for Stirling will still go up rather dramatically this year," Mr. Williams told the News-Argus.

The board chairman said the same situation applies to the township of Rawdon.

The county board established its budget last week at an overall figure of $22,511,000. A cut of $111, 546 from the draft budget was approved.

Village clerk, W.L. Pollock, said he did not expect to receive the board's 1972 requisition until later this month. This means that the village council probably will not be able to establish the local mill rate until the first of May.

Mr. Pollock said the village is hoping that the expected increase in the education levy will be at least partially offset by a $300,000 increase in assessment which the municipality picked up over the past year. Stirling's assessment now stands at $7,560,000.

REFLECTIONS IN SPRINGTIME

Rawdon Creek was at full flood last week and a large section of the Stirling ball park was under water. The water almost completely surrounded the teeter totters at the north end of the park. The level of the creek has gone down considerably since last week and this year's flood level was lower than last.

Through the co-operation of the united counties board of education the meeting will be held in the Campbellford High School commencing at 7:30 p.m.

$6,000 tractor is stolen

A tractor, equipped with a front end loader, was stolen from the farm of Keith Clancy, R.R. 5, Stirling, last week and still has not been located.

The vehicle, valued at about $6,000 is a Massey-Ferguson 165, it was taken from a barn located on the 7th concession of Seymour Township. Police were able to track the vehicle about 15 miles from its home to north of Marmora, but beyond that, nothing has been determined.

Mr. Clancy has posted a reward for information leading to the recovery of his tractor.

O.P.P. from Campbellford and Madoc are working on the case.

Students judged likely to succeed in Year 1 at the end of the program will be eligible for admission to Brock University in September, 1972.

This summer program has been in operation at Brock since 1968 and has been considered a very successful one.

The meeting closed with the Mispah Benediction.

Loyalist enrolment ahead of 1971

In his report to the Loyalist College Board of Governors, at its regular meeting last Thursday, President Herbert Young announced that advance enrollment was more than 60% ahead of that for last year at this time. He said, however, that because of multiple applications probably put in by some students, it would be difficult to forecast the precise size of the increase to be expected in the student body next September.

Other items brought out in the course of the meeting included the following:

The College is submitting a Brief to the new "Ministry" of Colleges and Universities requesting funds for completion of the new wing now under construction at the north end of the College's main building. The Board unanimously approved the submission at the meeting.

The College has applied to the Ontario Council of Regents for permission to offer two new programs commencing in September 1972, one for Registered Nurse's Assistants and one for Mental Retardation Counsellors. The latter has been underway for the past year in the form of in-servicetraining by Loyalist instructor Mr. Michael Maloney at Prince Edward Heights. However under the proposed new set-up, students interested in becoming Counsellors at institutions for the mentally retarded will enroll at Loyalist as regular students in a two year program.

The Registered Nurse's Assistants' program is anticipated as a one year program for regular students having Grade 12 of the equivalent. This program is already over-subscribed by potential students.

Loyalist has arranged to offer courses in sewing, welding and typing at the Tyendinaga Mohawk Indian Reservation at Deseronto as of last February, and another 15 subjects are under consideration for offering in September.

Chief Earl Hill has worked out details with Loyalist's Field Representative, Mr. Laurie Cameron.

The Communication Studio Techniques Department of the College has completed filming a historical documentary on Pioneer Life in Bancroft. This project was undertaken by Mr. Ray Cunnington, Loyalist Supervisor, in cooperation with Mr. Gary Stevenson, principal of Bancroft Public School.

Senior Citizens weekly meeting

There were 12 tables of euchre at Senior Citizens on Thursday. On the top of the heap were Evelyn Finkle and John Kane while down under Margaret Fitchett and Jack Senior took their abode. Grace was sung and a nice lunch provided by Florence Dafoe, Edith Bradshaw, Ann Faulkner and Margaret Fitchett, was served. The annual Senior Citizen's picnic for this district will be at Zwick's Island on July 19th.

Two fools had cars they thought perfection;
They met one day at an intersection;
Tooted their horns and made connection;
A police car came and made inspection;
An ambulance came and made collection;
All that is left is a recollection;
And two votes less at the next election.

Presbyterian women's group holds meeting

Resurrection was the theme of the April meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women and the president, Mrs. K. Thompkins, opened with a poem "Hope of Eastertide" and a prayer.

Mrs. R. Taylor was in charge of the worship period, based on the Easter Worship Service from the Glad Tidings, written by Miss Frieda Matthews. Mrs. Taylor opened with the call to worship from Isaiah 53: 3-5 and "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" with Mrs. V. Matthews at the piano.

Mrs. Howard Hutcheon read the scripture readings from Luke 23: 33-49 and Mathew 28: 16-20 and 1-10. Mrs. James Johnston gave the meditation on the various scripture readings based on Christ's suffering and death, His resurrection and His call and our response.

Mrs. L. Tompkins lead in prayer. Interspersed in the scripture readings and the meditations were various Easter hymns - "Man of Sorrows" and "Christ the Lord is risen today."

Mrs. K. Tompkins, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, favored with a solo "Show Thy Cross to me."

A paper on the resurrection was given by Mrs. R. Eggleton. This gave the personal interpretations of the various people who were involved and ending with the visit of Jesus to the disciples in the upper room. For the followers of Jesus, the day had started out in the depths of darkness and had ended in a blaze of glory. This was the day of ressurection! If Easter really is the day of resurrection for us, an event which took place in Jerusalem almost 2,000 years ago, affects every event which takes place in the world today and makes this a day above all days. Mrs. K. Ray read a poem, "Happiness is .." This service was closed by the singing hymn 223 followed by prayer.

Mrs. K. Tompkins was in charge of the remainder of the meeting. Various items of business were discussed.

A committee was formed to look after the Spring Rally of Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. to be held in Stirling on May 31.

Twenty ladies answered the roll call.

The offering was received and dedicated by the president.

Everyone was reminded to bring clippings for the African scrap book.

The benediction brought the meeting to a close and a social time was enjoyed by all.

CENTENNIAL REPORT

A report by Thom Reynolds from Centennial Secondary School, Palmer Road, Belleville

Well, the sports are over for a few weeks and I've gone since January without writing a school report. Things this year haven't been as busy and eventful as last year.

Centennial had only one entrant in this year's Belleville Rotary sponsored Science Fair and Hobby Show, which was held on the weekend in the Belleville Armouries. Gerald Bryant, a grade nine student from the school and from this village, placed first in the engineering section at the fair. Second went to Douglas Richardson of Marmora Street School and third went to Bradley Stewart of Marmora.

Gerald was in the junior group for grades seven, eight and nine. His presentation was on rockets with home models on display.

Over 100 students from the Quinte area participated in this year's fair, making it the largest so far. There are no extra term marks given by teachers for the presentations in the fair and no pressure is put on the students. The projects are entered voluntarily by the students with guidance from science department teachers.

Three students from Belleville will go on to Sarnia to compete with their models in the Canada-wide competition to be held next month.

Jane Douglas, a student of grade 13 last year, was the Grand Winner at last year's Science Fair and went on to place second in the Canada-wide competition.

In the Hobby Displays at the Science Fair and Hobby Show, Bill Slavin and Chris Doolittle from the Senior Public School displayed land battles using model soldiers. The soldiers were purchased in model kits and painted by the boys. The soldiers with background settings were set up in different land battle formations. Both boys live at R.R. 4, Stirling.

A youth production was held at the school on Friday and Saturday night as part of the Quinte Arts Council, Artfest '72. 'Move It' was an all-youth production with a variety of numbers by teenagers from the Quinte district.

A group of boys and girls from the school presented a musical number, Joe Banana and his Willbilly Boys, as part of the evening's entertainment. Bill Jackett, Don Campbell and Ken Gouch were three local boys who were part of the hillbilly group.

With a loss of $124 by the school's student council at three dances held in the school since Christmas, the principal of the school, W.J. Musgrove has decided that no further dances will be held for the remainder of the year.

A group of five boys from the school have presented a new constitution to the student council for approval. The constitution has been set up to simplify the present manner in which meetings are carried out and to empower the students to hold a vote for next year's president of the student council in May instead of the regular month, September. Advancement in approving the new constitution is slow, like most government plans, with the student council deciding a larger constitution committee is needed to review the proposed one.

A grade 12 student from the school, Terry Richardson of Belleville, placed third in the Simpsons - Sears photography contest for teenagers. Peter Wiegrand from Bayside Secondary School placed first in the local store's contest and will now compete in the national finals. Terry's photo was a colored sunset over the Pacific Ocean. Foul Play

In the words of Reeve Robert Anderson, "it's absolutely ridiculous" that the Ontario Housing Corporation should propose hiring an out of town resident to handle the caretaking duties at the new senior citizens home, when willing people are available locally.

When one considers that applicants for admittance to the low rental apartments MUST be Stirling residents, it becomes even more incredible that the OHC should look outside of the village for a resident caretaker.

We applaud the village council for taking steps to oppose this unjust proposal. With the assistance of our local Queen's Park member, Clarke Rollins, it should be possible to successfully challenge the OHC plan.

Of course, the whole exercise would not have been necessary if the provincial bureaucrats had used common sense in the matter. It is becoming increasingly clear that local municipalities are fed up with being shoved around by agencies which should be their servants -- not their masters.

A Weekly Meditation

By DOUGLAS TYRER
Grace Chapel
Make A Fresh Start

Winter has a way of making earth look tired, or even dead. But in God's plan, the new life in the spring is never far behind. And so now, again, spring is waiting for a new start.

Do you sometimes wish that it was possible in life to call a halt, to erase the spotty past, the gray present and to make a fresh new start?

Actually, this is what the Lord Jesus Christ promises to those who desire it. He promises a new life, to all who will receive Him, St. John 10:10, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

Becoming a Christian is not a humdrum matter. It is every bit as dramatic as the seasonal change, which brings the new life and colour of spring out of the death and drabness of winter.

Are you tired of sick attempts at self-reformation, disappointed by the deadening monotony of an empty life? A fresh new start is what you need -- a springtime in your soul. It is yours for the receiving.

Concerning that wonderful and radical change, the Bible states, "But as many as received Him, to them gave He the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name, St. John 1:12.

Personally trust Christ and springtime will come for you. A new life, eternal life.

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new, Romans 5:17.

Or as a revised rendering puts it, "When someone becomes a Christian, he becomes a brand new person inside. A new life has begun."

Do you really want anything else? You can make a fresh start today!

Letter to the editor

April 10/72

Dear Mr. Kemp:

I am pleased to inclose a money order for $4.50 to renew my subscription for a year for the Stirling News-Argus which is due on April 1. I am still in the Nursing Home and pretty weak in the legs, but I think my condition is about the same as it was a year ago. My family are all in pretty fair health and quite busy at their jobs. My wife is taking things easy and I believe thinking of me most of the time. I look forward to getting the news of my old home town.

A short time ago you had a write up about Bro. W. K. Bailey paying an official visit to the Masonic Lodge in Stirling. W. K. Bailey and I put in five years in the Stirling High School at the same time and we both came from farms and had good success in school and later on in our work. We are about the same age.

I am now a life member of Eureka Masonic Lodge and also a life member of Quinte Friendship Chapter in Belleville. I am surely pleased to get the regular summons from them every month and know what is going on in the Lodge.

I see in March 8 Argus that Bob Patterson received the 50-year membership jewel in Keystone Chapter. He and I were very good friends when I was in Stirling and I surely hope he is enjoying perfect health now and most successful in his store. I read about his business there every week.

Now, here is wishing you pleasant satisfaction in all your activities at all times and a happy Easter.

Yours most sincerely,
A. D. McCutcheon

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

Heard any silence lately?.....

A few years ago, a bleary-eyed homeowner was in Provincial court complaining about the racket his neighbor's air conditioner made all summer.

While his neighbor slept in cool comfort, he tossed and turned all night because of the sound the outside compressor made.

Finally, the only solution he could think of was to sue the neighbor and parade a line of expert witnesses in a courtroom.

Almost before the case got under way, the judge cut to the quick of the air conditioner case.

"Does anybody make a muffler or silencing hood for that thing?" he asked, indicated the machine.

The experts agreed: "Yes".

"Then buy one," he ordered. "Case dismissed."

It was a simple, logical solution, but it's hard to be logical and unemotional where noise is involved. Noise is the pollution that can have an effect on the emotional stability as well as on the body.

It has been around a long time. Julius Caesar was said to have complained about the clatter of chariot wheels on the cobblestones of Rome and banned them from the streets after sunset.

New psychiatric studies are under way exploring the effects of noise and some interesting results are showing up.

One New York psychiatrist reports there is a recurring fantasy among some men who live near major airports. It involves breaking into the nearest armories and stealing an anti-aircraft gun. And the next low-flying jet ....boom!

This particular student of human response to noise became interested in the subject when he discovered his new house was on the flight path to John F. Kennedy airport.

Jets, cars, trucks, motorcycles, snowmobiles, vacuum cleaners, transistor radios, stereos, jack hammers and rivetting guns -- all these things and more are assaulting our ears.

The pain threshold -- the point where sound actually hurts -- is easy to establish. It is in the neighborhood of 140 decibels. That's somewhere between the interior noise level of a diesel truck cab and the sound of a small jet engine 100 feet away.

And the majority of medical opinion is that a steady noise level above 80 decibels for a long period of time can cause some hearing loss.

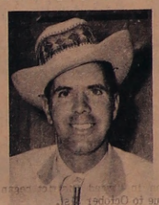
SPRING SERVICE SPECIALS
"Why you likely need these specials



Our Service Manager, GEORGE LOSHAW:

"Even before we see your car, we'll hazard a guess that you need a wheel alignment.

"The fact is, every car does from time to time. Normal road vibration gradually puts the front wheels out of alignment. Hitting a curb or other obstacle can make it happen all at once.

"If it gets bad enough, you'll feel it in the handling of your car. But before you notice it, the damage may have been done. To your tires. Because faulty alignment is murder on tires.

"If the wheels don't track true, the tires are scrubbed and scraped along the road. Wheel wobble gouges out chunks of tread rubber. If the camber (or wheel slope) is wrong, you're riding on the outer or inner edges of the tires. Toe in or toe out does more damage.

"It doesn't take many miles of that kind of punishment to finish off a tire. Thousands of miles too soon.

"But tire wear isn't all the damage that faulty alignment can cause. Wheel vibration can shake up other parts of your Riding System. To cause even more trouble.

"So it certainly makes sense to have your alignment problem solved. Now. Especially since we'll do it right, for only $8.89."

IN MEMORIAM

LITTLE - In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Dennis Garfield Little, who passed away one year ago, April 23rd, 1971.

Gone is his voice in the hallways,
Empty his seat in the room,
Into the hearts of his playmates
Has been cast a ray of gloom;
For Dennis was suddenly taken,
Called from his friends, and earth's fun;
Many are left here to ponder
But for Dennis, all work is done.
So we bow our heads in sorrow
That one from our midst is gone,
And we think of Life's real meaning;
It helps us to carry on.

Lovingly ever remembered by Mother and Dad, brothers, sisters and families. 16-1

LITTLE - In loving memory of a dear grandson, nephew and cousin, Dennis Garfield Little, who passed away one year ago, April 23, 1971.

No one heard the footsteps of the angels drawing near,
Who took from us to heaven,
The one we loved so dear.

Lovingly remembered by Grama Bartindale, Aunt Doreen, Uncle Dave, Karen, David and Kevin. 16-1

KENT - Mae M., who passed away April 17, 1971.

Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

Ever remembered by her loving daughter Margaret and family. 16-1

FLINT - In loving memory of a dear niece and cousin, Beth Flint, who passed away one year ago, Apr. 26, 1971.

Softly we speak of the ones we loved
Gently we speak of the past,
But memories grow deeper as life travels on
And love and memories last.

Remembered by Uncle Ken, Aunt Rhea and cousins, Charles, Scott and Lisa. 16-1

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL QUINTE DISTRICT FARMERS

We regret to advise that despite our maximum effort and the unanimous support of all local ODAF personnel, the proposed QUINTE GRAIN ELEVATOR may not be built this year.

As many of you know we presented a proposal to ARDA last autumn asking for financial assistance on the capital cost of this facility. As a matter of record the urgent need for a local elevator was suggested to us by ODAF representatives and, in the early stages, was well received by ARDA. There was no problem in establishing:

A - The importance of creating an orderly, high-volume marketing system in the area from Port Hope to Kingston with special emphasis on grain corn for industrial markets, wheat and possibly white beans.

B - That the high capital cost of a proper and viable installation would be so great that it would never be built with private funds, so government assistance for the benefit of all growers would be both logical and, in fact mandatory.

We received sufficient encouragement, at the outset, to tentatively engage a competent contractor to prepare plans for construction. Further negotiations looked so favorable that we took the gamble of purchasing a site and investing the cost of improvements and excavation so that construction could begin early as possible this spring, to meet the target date of August 1st, 1972 to begin receiving grain. Complete operational financing had been arranged to assure immediate cash payment to growers at delivery time. During all this time we were in close contact with ARDA and it was felt that a favorable decision on a suitable grant would be forthcoming early in the winter.

Some of the projections in our proposal were: an estimated increase in the value of cash crops in the Quinte area to over 6 million dollars from the present 3½ million by 1975; a 30 percent increase in fall wheat plantings; grain corn increasing from 28,000 acres in 1971 to 45,000 acres in 1975; White beans moving from less than 2,000 acres in 1971 to over 8,000 acres in 1975. In all an estimated 1,000 farmers would derive direct benefit from a local elevator, to say nothing of indirect benefits to truckers, custom operators and sales and service industries throughout the area.

As events develop it became increasingly apparent that our projections of costs were too low and that the management factor would be critical, especially in the first year or two of operation. At this juncture and with the verbal approval of ARDA we arranged a partnership and the creation of a separate new corporation in order to spread the financial load and broaden the base of management and marketing.

Unfortunately, after seven months of negotiation with ARDA and a considerable cash outlay on our part, we are now informed that our proposal is unnacceptable on the grounds that "it is against ARDA policy to provide financial assistance for the establishment of grain elevators" even though the most recent elevator grant (on a basis similar to our proposal) was announced only last November.

As the situation now stands, the farmers in the Quinte area are still without market facilities for grain cash crops.

Having been so thoroughly intimate with this project for the past seven months, we are firmly convinced that a government-assisted grain elevator of considerable magnitude is essential in this district to bring together the producers who are already growing marketable crops in surplus with the local industries who are importing them from elsewhere.

This letter is being published as a matter of public information since we believe that the many farmers who have been planning cash crops programs based upon the plans of our company are entitled to an explanation. We have no wish to criticize ARDA or any other governmental institution, but do feel that the whole question of assistance to the greater number of farmers in the Quinte Area has been badly misread.

It is now apparent that ARDA will only support this project with farmers actively involved in the financing. We will continue to examine ways and means of keeping the issue alive and will report any further developments in the press.

Yours very truly,
BISHOP FARM SEEDS LTD.

Mount Pleasant UCW

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

On Wednesday evening, April 12, the regular meeting of Mount Pleasant United Church Women was held at the hall with 35 ladies in attendance. The worship centre featured the memorial church cross and Easter lilies. Mrs. Milton Shaw provided a prelude of quiet music and accompanied the Easter hymns.

Mrs. Robert Hoard presided and opened with a message "What is Easter" and a welcome to all.

Miss Brenda Williams read the minutes and the roll call was answered with visitations to sick folk.

Mrs. Burton Sharp gave the financial report. Mrs. Elden Chapman read eight thank you notes. Invitations were received to attend a dessert luncheon at Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, in May, also to a Tea and Bazaar at Tabernacle United Church, English Line, next week.

The group was invited to a Food Forum in Stirling community hall under the direction of the Home Economics Department.

A donation of $5.00 was made to the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise and the festival fees will be paid by the U.C.W.

Donations to the World Development and Relief Fund were handed in by several members in the special containers.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and Mrs. W. C. Cox gave a synopsis of the recent branch conference meeting held at Lindsay. They introduced the fall study on India and displayed small spoons with the U.C.W. crest. The profits on these spoons will go to the Mission Fund. Several of the hymns in the new hymnary were also reviewed and one was used as a practice piece for all. On the question sheet one item was "What is the greatest joy you can think of?" Each presbyterial is responsible for paying their own delegates.

The April group made plans for visiting the Hastings Manor coffee shop next week.

On Thursday, April 13, Mrs. Ross Jeffs and her April group planned the refreshments for Africa night.

Miss Brenda Williams gave a report for the catering of the March and April group.

Mrs. Harry McAdam read a message on citizenship.

Mrs. Ralph Jeffs reported the packing of the bale of used clothing. The president spent $25.00 for food and kitchen supplies for a burned out family and they also received children's clothes from the supply bale.

The May meeting will include a display of the 4-H Club work with the program centred around Supply and Welfare.

Mrs. Jim Hagerman and Mrs. Vernon Harry conducted the Easter program.

The devotional was based on the cross and was given in dialogue form by the two convenors and four assistants, Mrs. Burton Sharpe, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Garth Joslin and Mrs. Douglas Campbell.

Mrs. Elden Chapman read the Bible lesson.

Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and Mrs. Chapman gathered the offering which was dedicated.

The devotional closed with prayer and all sang "From the Slave Pens of the Delta."

A contest was enjoyed and for the social hour Mrs. Oscar Merrick and Mrs. Don Knight served fruit bread and cheese.

The year's budget was presented by finance secretary, Mrs. David Duffin, which included a slight increase in the allocation. Twenty five dollars was allotted as a bursary to Rev. and Mrs. Grant Richardson of Nova Scotia to use for their church needs. Also one hundred dollars was allotted for the church clothing cupboard. This budget report was accepted as given.

Two invitations were received and accepted, to social evening with program at Holloway United Church in Belleville with Stirling church women giving a musical number, which will be given by Mrs. John May, and to Mount Pleasant United Church to attend an African night.

It was agreed to send overseas relief blankets this year instead of the usual bale of clothing which was discontinued on account of the high price of transportation cost. One hundred fifty dollars will be purchasing price for blankets.

Cancer can be beaten.

APRIL IS CANCER SOCIETY MONTH

The phrase "Cancer can be beaten" is also a fact; yet somehow we don't incorporate it into our personality quite so easily. KNOWING that Cancer ISN'T a death sentence, that it is just another disease, and that people DO recover with treatment -- becoming convinced of this takes a little time -- and a little research. But until you convince yourself, you'll never convince anyone else, especially not someone who is frightened of pain and death -- as a Cancer patient is.

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT

CO-OP (BY JACK WOOD)

How is your farm record keeping system? We've all seen and heard jokes about notes on the stable door, and today most farms have improved quite a bit on that system. The fact is however, that many farms, just like some other businesses, could stand to improve the system for handling bills, receipts, and the many other important records. Early in the year is the time to get your office records organized if you aren't there now.

One expert suggested the other day that every farm should have at least a three-drawer filing cabinet for keeping track of records and documents. He suggests one drawer for business records, one for production details and one for the wife's home records and receipts.

The cabinet drawers should be the right size to hold regular size filing folders which you can buy at any stationery store. This means the inside dimensions should be about 12 1/2 inches wide and 11 inches deep.

You can divide each drawer into a number of sections with cardboard dividers. For example, the business drawer could contain the following headings: Bills unpaid, Bills paid, Income records, Account Books and inventories, Banking and borrowing, Taxes, Insurance, Business management, Organizations, and Valuable papers.

Each of these sections will likely need more than one file, the exact number and the headings you put on them will depend on your own farm.

In the production drawer, you may want to put in sections for Crops and Soils, Livestock, Machinery and Equipment, Buildings and Miscellaneous. If you produce any specialized cash crops you may want a separate section for each of these.

In planning the file folders to be put in each section, it is a good idea to write down on a sheet of paper all the possible topics that might be included. Then, some of them may be so closely related that they can be grouped together in a single file folder. Correspondence is best filed in the folder to which it refers.

Don't let the files get too thick though. If a file folder gets more than about three quarter's of an inch thick, it is a good idea to divide it into two separate headings. On some topics, especially many of the business ones, you will want to start a separate file at the beginning of each year. In this way, you will have a file for Bills Paid - 1971 and another for Bills Paid - 1972. On other topics such as Insurance, the same file should carry on from year to year.

Rebekahs hold meeting

A goodly number of members and visitors assembled in the I.O.O.F. temple, Stirling, on Tuesday, April 11, when Sister Ruth Jardine, District Deputy President of District #4, made her official visit to Laurel Rebekah Lodge #211. Sister Kathleen McMullen, Jr. PNG escorted Sister Ruth into the Lodge where she was introduced and welcomed by the Noble Grand, Sister Madeline Walker. Sisters Nina Neal, PNG, and Mable Barlow, PNG, placed a very pretty crown on Sister Ruth's head before she was escorted to her chair through a Guard of Honor composed of Sisters Isobel Good, PNG, Ada Keating, Lillian Johnson, PNG, Eileen Woodcox, PNG, Olive Whitehead, PDDP, and Irene Hogle, PNG. Members and several visitors from Tweed were also welcomed.

Sister Marjorie Stapley, Vice Grand, reported cards, flowers and visits had been made to several members who were ill.

The members were reminded of the church service at St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, on Sunday, April 16, along with Stirling I.O.O.F. Lodge members #239.

The Degree of the Order was conferred on Charles Fargey, in a very capable manner.

A donation was made to the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise being held in St. Paul's United Church.

Sister Alice Hoard, Outside Guardian, entered the Lodge Hall towing a large "Dream Boat" - she was followed by five members of the Guard of Honor to the station of the District Deputy President, Sister Ruth Jardine, where each one read an appropriate verse then placed a small scroll into a smaller boat, after which it was presented to the District Deputy President, who voiced her thanks for the gifts and the charming way in which they were presented. She also gave a short address regarding the good of the Order.

Brother Charles Fargey, our new members, made a few remarks after which the Noble Grand, Sister Madeline Walker, expressed her thanks to the Officers, staff, soloists and pianist for the very efficient way in which the Degree was conferred.

The members retired to the banquet hall where Sister Olive Whitehead, PDDP, and her committee had prepared delicious refreshments. Sister Marion Carter, PNG, and Sister Ruth Jardine, DDP, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the committee.

YOUR ACTION 395-3321 CLASSIFIED AD NUMBER

COUNCIL WITHDRAWS ASSESSMENT APPEAL

After three months of trying to get qualified assistance to appeal the reduced assessment on the Hogle Funeral Home, Stirling Village council voted Monday night to withdraw the appeal.

The estimated high cost of the appeal, possibly in excess of $2,000, was the principal reason for taking the action. Reeve Robert Anderson called for a recorded vote on the issue, and Edward Klompmaker, Maurice Faulkner and Fred Brandt, along with the reeve voted for the motion, while Maurice Montgomery voted against.

The decision was sparked by information provided by Clerk W.L. Pollock. He had been instructed earlier to obtain quotes from qualified appraisers on their costs to appraise the property and also appear in court if requested. One man from Belleville wanted $25 to even come and discuss the matter with council, and also stated he would not do the job, because he didn't want to make enemies in the assessment department.

A Kingston man said he would want $400 to make the appraisal and any court appearance fees would be in addition to that figure. He also said he could not do the job for at least six weeks, and his brother could not take on the job because he has been away from home already on work for six weeks, with no apparent end in sight.

In addition to the appraiser, there would be legal fees involved, and there was also the possibility the court would require possibly two or more opinions, thus driving the fees even higher.

During the debate, Councillor Montgomery stated that he felt council had publicly taken a stand and it would be poor practice to withdraw now. He felt there was a principle at stake to pursue the issue.

The other councillors' opinion could be summed up with the expression 'the costs are too high, compared to what we originally intended.' All three, except Maurice Faulkner, who was not on council when the original decision was taken, felt that when the original motion was made, the assessment ruling could be appealed for a few hundred dollars, and this would be the move to make. Now that so much taxpayers' money could be involved, it is not worth the expense.

The original assessment on the property was $56,000 and a court of revision dropped this to $45,000. Mr. Hogle further appealed, and at a second hearing last December, the assessment was dropped to $39,970, while the top storey of the funeral home changed from commercial to residential.

As a result of the reductions, the business assessment was reduced from $13,500 to $9,550.

All during the course of these hearings, the amount of business done has been considered a factor, and also the court took into consideration that perhaps the building was too large for a community of this size.

In his appeal, Mr. Hogle charged that lack of leadership in the village had resulted in little or no growth, and this had affected his business.

MORTGAGE PAPERS GO UP IN FLAMES

William McKinnon, secretary of the board of the Good Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle, holds burning slip of mortgage paper as Pastor Edward MacDonald looks on. The special mortgage burning ceremony was held on Sunday evening in the tabernacle.

Pentecostals burn mortgage on church

The Good Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle's debt was cleared on Sunday night with a special mortgage burning ceremony.

Helping with the ceremony were William McKinnon, secretary of the board; Miss Marjorie Forbes, WMC president; Mrs. Lee Smith, Sunday School superintendent; Ray Donnan, member of the board, and special guest speaker, Rev. Abe Hodgson from Napanee. Absent for the ceremony was board member, Lee Smith.

The church was built in 1961-62 and was opened in September of 1962. The church was financed for $12,000 on bank notes. The majority of the labor was carried out by the members of the church. Five pastors have been at the church since the opening, Bob Donnan, Carl Young, William Kenna, Keith Goodman, and at present, Edward MacDonald.

Since 1954, services had been held at the Storefront Churches, the first church was near the Hatton Hardware Store area while the other was at the St. Pierre's radio and TV store area. Special guest speaker for the evening was rev. Abe Hodgson who was the first pastor in the village and carried out his services from the storefront Churches.

Mr. Hodgson is now in the Napanee area where he assists in services at the Napanee Pentecostal Temple.

Burglar surprised

For the second time in recent weeks, Bylaw officer Frank Broekema's timely arrival has prevented a theft.

While on patrol Saturday night, he noticed things amiss at Stirling Lumber, and upon investigating noticed a prowler inside. By the time he notified the OPP in Belleville, the culprit had made his escape out the back door.

Mr. Broekema noted that the thief had placed a two wheeled cart near the safe, as if ready to haul it away.

Just recently, the same firm was broken into and the safe taken out in a field behind the lumber yard and almost smashed open. Mr. Broekema's arrival on the scene than forced the thieves to depart without gaining access, although the safe was damaged beyond use.

Retired farm machinery dealer dies

Harvey Cecil Pitcher of 218 Mill St., Stirling died in Kingston General Hospital on Thursday, April 13, 1972. He was 78 years of age and had been ill for the past month.

Mr. Pitcher was born in Murray Township and was the son of the late Henry and Adelia Pitcher. He received his education at S.S. No. 21, Murray, and lived on R.R. 1, Frankford, until moving to Stirling 26 years ago. He was a retired Farm Implement dealer.

Mr. Pitcher was a member of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling and a life member of Franck Lodge A.F. & A.M., 127, Frankford, a life member of L O L 240, Frankford, and a life member of R.B.P. No. 631, Frankford.

Mr. Pitcher's first wife, Mary Dafoe, predeceased him. He is survived by his second wife, helen Bryant, two sons and a daughter: William and Harold and Gladys (Mrs. Roy Holland) all of Frankford; also by five grandchildren.

He is also survived by a sister, Jane (Mrs. William Elzea) of Ludington, Mich. A sister, Edith (Mrs. P. Charlesworth) predeceased him.

The funeral was held Sunday, April 16 at 2 p.m. at the Jones-Rowe Funeral Home in Frankford. Rev. John May of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling officiated, assisted by Rev. Douglas Miller of the Stockdale United Church.

Masonic service was held Saturday evening under auspices of Franck Lodge No. 127.

Interment was made in the Stockdale cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Delbert Badgley, Harold Terry, Harold Maybee, Bill Morton, Elwood Bateman and Clinton Bates.

Personal

Rev. David Kawkins of Wellington, Ont., and Mrs. S. Hawkins Sr. of London, Eng., were recent dinner guests of Rev. Roy and Mrs. Taylor.

Rev. Roy and Mrs. Taylor attended the dedication of the new Roslin Presbyterian Church last Wednesday evening. Also attending were the members of the sessions of West Huntingdon and Stirling Presbyterian Churches.

Fire department budget up $1,300

Fire Chief Graham Mouck took issue with the methods of raising needed tax requirements as he presented his budget to council Monday night. He had concurrence from all councillors, but all present realized they were stuck with no choice in the matter.

At issue is the fact that during a recent survey of local fire-fighting conditions and equipment the Ontario Fire Marshall's office made certain recommendations. In order to obtain these facilities, council must look to a higher mill rate and naturally incur taxpayers' wrath if the increase is substantial.

On the other hand, the Board of Education makes its demand for so many dollars, and council must pay, and has no chance to try and reduce the amount in any way. Reeve Anderson commented that once the education costs are known, council must then try to pare other budgets in order to keep any mill rate increase to a minimum.

The fire department budget will be up about $1,300 over last year in order to purchase a much needed vehicle for transporting such things as the smoke extractor and portable pump, for example. It will also provide a closed, heated place for firemen to recuperate in while fighting fires in bad weather.

Chief Mouck noted that two or three other items could be purchased without increasing the budget, as they would take the place financially, of items bought last year.

Praise festival next week

Plans are now completed for the 22nd annual Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise which starts next Monday and continues until Friday. Saturday night, the Stars of the Festival will perform at St. Paul's United Church.

Under the auspices of the official board of St. Paul's Church and the Stirling Festival Committee, the praise festival draws contestants from throughout the Quinte area. It has become, over the years, one of the village's major public events.

A new feature of this year's festival is the introduction of classes for bands and instruments. Classes begin Monday night at Stirling Senior School.

Adjudicator for the piano and vocal section will be Mrs. Doreen Simmons of Toronto. A native of Ingersoll, she studied with Mona Bates in Toronto, was the top piano winner of the Kiwanis Festival in 1954, taught at the Royal Conservatory from 1955 to 1963 and made her professional debut at the Wigmore Hall, London, England, in 1961.

After her marriage in 1962, she began teaching privately. She has been closely associated with Mr. Sidgwick as a singer and accompanist. She also has worked with Elmer Isler, Lloyd Bradshaw, James Whicker and other choral directors.

"My three children keep me in touch with the point of view of youth," says Mrs. Simmons.

Judging the Scripture section will be Rev. E. Leicester Bigby of Plainfield United Church while the adjudicator for the instrumental numbers will be David Smith of the Music Department at Queen's University, Kingston.

Mrs. B. W. Glendinning of Stirling is the 1972 president of the festival. Other officers are Rev. John A. May, honorary president; Mrs. Carl Potter, past president; Mrs. D. Williams, first vice-president; Miss M. Hales, second vice-president; Mrs. H. Keefer, third vice-president; Mrs. A. Reilly, treasurer; Mrs. Carl Potter, assistant treasurer; Mrs. S. McArton, recording secretary; Mrs. George Carlisle, festival secretary; Mrs. J. Doran, assistant festival secretary.

DEFENCE MINISTER VISITS RIDING

Edgar Benson, left, Minister of Defence, visited the Trenton area last week. He was guest speaker at a dinner given by the President's 100 Club at the Red Lion Motel in Trenton. Mr. Benson was greeted by Jack Bush, reeve of Sidney Township and president of the club. Mr. Bush was master of ceremonies at the dinner.

Edgar J. Benson speaks to PE-Hastings Liberals

BY ROY LEWIS

Former Finance Minister, Edgar Benson, predicted that the "unemployment problem in the country will be overcome." Mr. Benson, now the Minister of Nation Defence, made the comment in a speech given at the President's 100 Club annual dinner held last Wednesday at the Red Lion Motel in Trenton. The club is composed of key members of the Prince Edward-Hastings Liberal Association.

Mr. Benson said that the economy of the country is expanding very quickly and predicted that the gross national product will climb in 1972.

Mr. Benson gave a brief outline of the Canadian economy while he was Minister of Finance. He said that the White Paper on taxation "reformed the tax system." The new system has "reduced taxes for 4 or 5 million people on the lower end of the tax scale," he said.

He told of the 1968 inflation in Canada and the reorganization of finance to cut down the federal and provincial government's expenses. He also said that businesses co-operated in this price reduction plan.

Mr. Benson praised the prices and income commission for the work that they did to curb inflation. He said that 1970 was the worst year for unemployment but "our unemployment increased less proportionally than any other Western country."

In the matter of prices and wage controls, Mr. Benson said he was not against them, however, "such controls must be firm but only for a short period of time."

"The floating of the Canadian dollar was one of the best decisions of the Canadian government," he said.

"If we had not floated the Canadian dollar we would have had a 10% exchange rate with the U.S. dollar," he said.

In reference to his new role as Minister of Defence, Mr. Benson said, "There will be no reduction in the armed forces." He said that the force level is between 81 and 83 thousand men. He also reassured local residents that the government does not intend to close the Canadian forces base at Trenton.

In his closing remarks Mr. Benson said he would not forecast when the next federal election will be. He did say, in reference to the Progressive Conservative party, "my opinion of the opposition is that they have a rather ineffective leader and have hopeless confusion in their policies."

Education levy up 2.4 mills

Like almost everything else, school taxes in Stirling went up this year, and it will cost $70,049 for the Hastings County Board of Education to handle Stirling's share of the cost for 1972.

The Board requisition was presented at council Monday night.

Public school levy this year is $37,332, and high school $32,717. This year's total figure is up from $51,647 in 1971, and the size of the increase is due to the fact that when the county board came into existence in 1969, the village had a surplus school account. At first this was not allowed to be applied against school levies, but last year the government relented and the surplus was applied to the 1971 levy. This meant Stirling's actual requirement from the taxpayers was lessened for that year.

Council estimated that this increase will mean about 2.4 mills on the tax rate. The exact amount will not be known until the amounts are split between commercial and residential assessment.

By way of comparison, the 1st year Stirling was on its own for school matters, the levy was $48,942.

Rotary walkathon slated for May 20

On Saturday, May 20, students from Stirling and district will put their best foot forward in the Ontario Society for Crippled Children's second annual 10-mile walkathon in aid of handicapped children.

The walk, organized by the Stirling Rotary Club, will begin at Stirling Senior Public School at 9 a.m., and will finish at the same spot.

Edward Klompmaker, chairman of the club's Crippled Children's committee, says that response from local schools has been great and that if others are interested in walking they should telephone him at 395-3396 by May 13.

Child Safety Week

National Child Safety Week is sponsored annually by the Canada Safety Council to focus attention on the high loss of life and health of children caused by accidents.

"Nearly 2,000 children under the age of 15 die each year as a result of accidents in the streets and highways, in the home and at play." James C. Thackray, president of the Council said in his Child Safety Week message. "Thousands more are seriously injured, many of them becoming permanently disbled."

"Accidents are by far the major cause of death by children and these tragedies are accentuated by the knowledge that most of them can be prevented," Mr. Thackray said.

In 1970, the last year for which figures are available, accidental deaths of children aged one to 14 amounted to 160 per cent of the total of the next three leading causes of child deaths. There were 1,597 killed in accidents, 457 by cancer, 310 by congenital anomalies or defects at birth and 177 by pneumonia.

John Munro, Minister of National Health and Welfare, asked in his campaign message whether "we do anything to stop this needless slaughter of the innocents?"

"Adults -- not just parents and teachers -- must assume the responsibility for the safety of our children," he said.

"We must train them from birth to avoid dangers. We are also committed to keeping dangers out of their way, to protecting them when they cannot protect themselves. Children are not naturally imbued with protective instincts but they are naturally imbued with trust in the adults who surround them."

The story told by fatality statistics, unfortunately still the only meaningful national figures gathered on child accidents, is a "jolter."

Children are the main victims in pedestrian accidents. Of the 1,287 pedestrians killed in 1970, 493 or 38.3% were under the age of 15.

Of the 1,173 drownings, 360 or 30.7% were children under 15. Of the 634 fire deaths, 208 or about 33% were children.

The statistics point out with great clarity that more boys live dangerously than girls.

Of the 493 child pedestrian deaths, 303 or 61% were boys. Of the drownings, also under the age of 15, 270 out of 360 deaths or 75% were boys. In lesser causes of death the difference really sticks out. In the category of death by being struck by objects or striking against objects, 26 out of 31 child deaths or 84% were boys.

Naturally, the percentages evened out in accidents in which the child was a passive victim -- in fires and automobile passenger deaths.

Council points out that these figures show children, especially boys, suffer more than their share of accidents. The figures are grisly but point out the great need to "Guard their Lives."

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT

LICENSING FERTILIZER EQUIPMENT

This week's column fits into the "handy tip" category for farmers who use aqua or anhydrous fertilizers, or bulk spread dry fertilizers.

A year ago some farmers were towing fertilizer nurse tanks from their supplier to their farm when they were stopped by the O.P.P. The nurse tanks did not have a license. The same thing happened to UCO and some other fertilizer suppliers, when fertilizer applicators and spreaders were being delivered to farmers for their use. The spreaders are farm equipment and so the companies involved had not bothered to license them. The O.P.P. were administering the Highway Traffic Act and they issued summons, believing the applicators were trailers and thus requiring licenses.

The Plant Food Council, UCO and representatives of two other companies, obtained a hearing in January of this year, with the Minister of Transport. The purpose was to get a clear interpretation of what is considered to be an "Implement of Husbandry" as defined by the Act, with specific reference to fertilizer equipment.

It was determined that farmers or others towing applicators and spreaders, do not have to license this equipment as trailers. They are defined as Implements of Husbandry under the Act.

However, nurse tanks, if towed by a motor vehicle will require a trailer license. A tractor is not considered to be a motor vehicle, according to the Act, and so the nurse tank will not be considered a trailer if it is towed by a tractor.

The high cost of exploring space

Dialogue on the moon shot coverage on Saturday leads one to believe that some sense of priorities needs to be established if man generally and the United States in particular is going to survive the rapidly progressing pollution of this sphere we inhabit.

It is established now that after next December's Apollo 17 trip to the moon, that will be the end of such exploration for some time and the US space plans call for development of skylabs, places on which work can be done and rendezvous spots for trips to and from outer space. Just what good this will do has yet to be interpreted for us common folk.

The issue raised Saturday was that with the load of rocks and samples being brought back on this trip, and already here from the previous four space travels to the moon, scientists have more than enough study materials to keep them going for years ahead. While admitting this was true, the scientist involved wondered whether or not such additional material might not be needed.

As usual, the whole problem revolves around money, and it was questioned whether funds that might be spent on more space shots, especially manned ones, could not be better used trying to clean up the environment, or at least arrest the present trends. It seems the first moon shot, when we all watched bleary-eyed for hours on end, cost about 25 billion dollars. The recent agreement to clean up the Great Lakes, signed by President Nixon and Prime Minister Trudeau, is estimated to cost less than half that, and certainly the immediate values would be more useful.

The race to put men on the moon and the accompanying development of rocketry and associated requirements, has been won by the Free World, if that was the original plan. In the interval, we find that the waters and air on which we depend for life itself, are in the process of being so badly polluted, that we must now spend more billions, first to stay alive, and second, to try and make the future at least a little brighter than it appears at the moment.

The space question is between Russia and the USA, as is everything else of consequence. Let's hope they both realize life here in a clean environment means more to the peoples of the earth than wandering around in space, now that most major points apparently have been proved.

The burning question....

In Ottawa, the Bank of Canada burns about 25 tons of dirty, used paper money every month.

The Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas, Texas, is trying to cut down on waste and air pollution by recycling its paper money into building materials.

But Canada's money makers, while they are interested, are not yet ready for recycling. Security is the main consideration, they say, and nothing is as safe as burning.

Similarly, the RCMP insist on incineration for the classified secret paper they have to destroy. I don't know what their Canada-wide load is, but their Toronto offices burn about 80 pounds of paper a day.

You can't really argue about incineration when it involves the preservation of Canada's economy or National security.

But generally speaking, incineration is not the ideal answer to our cities' garbage disposal problem. It's expensive and incinerators need careful design and efficient controls to minimize our pollution.

On the other hand, burying waste, while it is generally cheaper, presents problems of its own. It has to be away from homes. Nobody wants a dump or a landfill scheme for a neighbor.

And in the immediate neighborhood of a growing city there aren't that many low-cost landfill sites that will not contaminate ground water or streams.

So recycling -- finding some use for the half ton of garbage each of us throws away every year -- seems like the only real solution.

You could say that Kitchener set up a recycling project when it decided to build a 110-foot ski hill from the city's waste. That's re-using garbage.

But Kitchener can't use household garbage or waste that decays in the hill, because decay generates heat and there would be little point in a ski hill that melts all the snow that lands on it.

The trouble is that garbage is so many things -- kitchen wastes, wood, paper, glass, cans, -- that it has to be sorted to be recycled.

Most recycling projects now underway involve volunteer labor and rely on the householder to sort his own waste. They have met with varying degrees of success.

Mechanical grinders and sorters, while they are steadily improving, are still not to the stage where they are completely reliable.

But a lot of development work is being done and there's a bright future for recycling if this and a few other stumbling blocks are overcome.

Paper can be used to make new paper, card, pressed board and other products.

Glass can be re-used or turned into paving material or building blocks.

Metals can be re-used, and to some extent are recycled.

And the organic waste that remains has countless potential uses. It has been used as compost and experimental uses include the production of natural gas, crude oil, and animal fodder.

The Department of the Environment's Waste Management Branch is keeping abreast of these developments with an eye to the future of garbage disposal.

Right now, waste is a problem and the aim is to minimize its harmful effects on the environment.

But more and more it is becoming a natural resource to be used to benefit all of us.

It's only a matter of time.

A Weekly Meditation

THE STARTING LINE
By REV. ROY A. TAYLOR
St. Andrew's
Presbyterian Church

We live in a world that is trying to prove that everyone has, and is entitled to, an equal opportunity. This is a most commendable goal to achieve. However, there is an obvious gap in our society, when on the one hand, we attempt to place each person on equal footing, while at the same time, we demonstrate a life-style that will place ourselves above other people in our quest for ultimate success. We have a natural dislike in the idea of an elite in society, and in the Church, which is due to the effort we make to satisfy our soul's craving for the best. We set up standards of what is "best", based on a merit system of our own making, and this can lead only to a form of "separatism". The cry is heard, "Let us have equality," but this can lead only to one basic common factor--the equality of death. It may be said that the devil's idea of democracy is the graveyard.

Man finds it hard to get what he wants because he does not want the best; God must find it hard to give, because He gave the best He had, and man will not take it.

Scripture describes the struggle between the high standards of merit and the wonderful gift of grace. Paul learned this lesson for himself, and teaches that one blood line does not receive a greater abundance of divine favour than any other.

The only thing that does matter, that makes a dwarf of all earthly standards of evaluation is the relationship of grace which is available for all who will accept the mystery of the Cross.

However, this is not a goal to be achieve. The Cross is a starting point, and is not static. Helping people to the starting line is only one objective. We must never stop there, but instead, help them to get off that mark, and to keep going. There is a demand on each individual never to yield or allow things to remain as they are. We are called upon to exercise more strength and faith in times of weakness, and this is the Christian's safeguard against misunderstanding his own status in the quality of his human importance. How then do we measure our Christian worth? In servitude to one's neighbor. We minister to the need and welfare of God's Children. Christ came, not to minister unto man, but to serve and to save man.

In bringing our neighbor to a belief and understanding of Jesus Christ, we find refuge through the grace and providence of the Holy Spirit. In all that you do, if it is done in the spirit of love and obedience to the Will of God, your life will be richly blessed, and better enabled to receive God's best for you -- eternal life.

Among the Books

At Stirling Public Library

With the coming of spring, and the advent of Daylight Saving Time, the free films shown at the Library on Friday nights will end next Friday, April 28th. We have some special films ready for that night, and then we will begin again in the Fall.

New titles on our shelves this month include "Not After Midnight," five long stories by that master story-teller Daphne du Maurier; "The Night is a Child" - international action and intrigue, by Richard Llewellyn; "The Trudeau Papers," a chilling tale of the possible near future, by Ian Adams; "The Flowers of Adonis" by Rosemary Sutcliff, set in the classical Greek world, and the life of Alkibiades, the controversial military hero; "Lovers All Untrue" by Norah Lofts, romantic suspense in Victorian England; "Lighthouse" by Eugenia Price, the story of James Gould, and his dream of life in the South just after the American Revolution; "End of the Line" by Monica Dickens, depicting the involvements on each end of the line, in a "Lifeline" service in England; "That Man Cartwright" by Ann Fairbairn, bringing to life the displaced workers - Mexican, blacks, the poor - with the insight and empathy that made "Five Smooth Stones" her book about the civil rights movement, a best seller; and "The Blonde Voyageur" by Nan Shipley, a novel of courage and intrigue at the time of the early Canadian exploration with the fur traders.

Non-fiction includes "Photography - Materials and Methods" by John Hedgecoe and Michael Langford; "The Scalpel, the sword" the revised issue of the story of Dr. Norman Bethune, by Ted Allen and Sydney Gordon; "Culture and Commitment" a study of the generation gap by anthropologist and social commentator Margaret Mead; "Penny Candy" - delightful humour on a variety of topics by Jean Kerr; and "Some of my friends have Tails" by Virginia McKenna, star of the films Born Free and Ring of Bright Water, who tells of individual animals who have been her friends and her feelings about the relationship of nature and man, only now beginning to realise that his exploitation has annihilated many species.

Young people will enjoy "Axes, Chops and Hot Licks" an account of the Canadian Rock Music scene and for those young readers who are looking for another "witch story", we have "The Little Broomstick" by Mary Stewart, giving a series of adventures with witchcraft and spells. The picture-book set are not forgotten, with "Benjy and the Barking bird," "I was kissed by a Seal at the Zoo," "Amos and Boris," "The Bennett Cerf book of riddles," and "The Lorax" by their old friend Dr. Seuss.

We will have more book news next month; until then, Happy Reading!

GOOSE NESTING PLATFORMS

Giant Canada geese (Branta canadensis maxima) readily accept nesting platforms. Two of many designs are shown. A — moulded fibreglass unit mounted on metal legs. B — section of 55 gallon oil drum on wood platform, with angle-iron stand. Three units can be made from one oil drum which should be thoroughly cleaned before use. Best results are from platforms 3 to 5 feet above water, not too far from shore and 50 to 75 yards apart. A layer of marsh grass or hay should be put in nest unit as the birds will not accept empty units. Wooden platforms accommodate the male at the nest and are know as "gander landers". Drawn from photos and data in 'North Dakota Outdoors' and 'Home Grown Honkers'.

Mount Pleasant UCW studies Africa

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

Thursday evening, April 20, was an evening of interest on the subject of Africa. The Mount Pleasant United Church Women were at home to 135 people which included men and children. Four U.C.W groups were specially invited and there were other units in attendance.

The church hall was arranged by the president and her committee. The platform showed a replica of an African home with two small children. The central theme was based on the World Development and Relief Fund of the U.C.W. Several of the gift containers were piled in a pyramid and a poster announced that $1.00 would purchase a sari and $45 a home.

The walls were covered with maps of Arica, many pictures and documentaries. A table contained a large array of souvenirs which Jack Oliver had brought home. There was jewellery, various kinds of money, novelty items, articles used by the natives and a scrap book. Along the east wall a long table held a display of U.C.W. literature and a recent project carried out by Mrs. Glenn Bennett and her pupils.

Mrs. W. C. Cox and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver greeted the guests as they arrived. The president, Mrs. Robert Hoard, welcomed everyone and presided for the program.

Mrs. Milton Shaw provided a prelude of music. During the evening Mrs. John May of St. Paul's U.C.W. rendered a vocal solo with Mrs. Arthur Pyear as accompanist.

Mrs. Gerald Russett, Bethel U.C.W., contributed a vocal solo with Mrs. R. Reid as accompanist.

Mrs. Leslie Dunkley gave a piano selection for Hoards U.C.W. Mrs. W. C. Cox conducted the singing of the hymn "From the slave pens of the delta," for Spring Brook U.C.W. Mrs. Herbert Smith introduced Mrs. Ralph Sills. A few years ago she enjoyed a farm association tour of Africa and other European countries. She gave a travelogue with colorful pictures which showed the landscape, the animals in the parks, shrubbery, trees, flowers, African huts and views of the people.

The guest speaker was Jack Oliver of Mount Pleasant. He spent 10 weeks in Uganda in 1970 on an agricultural assignment. Jack gave a very informative message which outlined his work in that country as he assisted the natives with helpful ideas to carry on their farm work. He also told a few humorous incidents and spoke briefly about the souvenirs that were displayed.

The president expressed thanks to Mrs. Sills, Mr. Oliver, the four church groups and to all the U.C.W. members and Mount Pleasant for their assistance on Africa night.

The offering was gathered by Mrs. Irvin Potts and Mrs. Donald Johnson and dedicated.

The audience sang Kum-Ba-Yah. Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a reading entitled the 'Missionarys Drum.' She said that 46 years ago on November 8, 1926 Mount Pleasant Woman's Missionary Society had sponsored a night on Africa in the church and she had given this reading at that time.

The meeting closed with the benediction as follows, "May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God and lastly may the Holy Spirit be with us all."

Mrs. Jack Bush then conducted a humorous game entitled, "The Lion Hunt."

Mrs. Ross Jeffs, convenor of the April group, and her committee served refreshments which included African doughnuts.

Loyalist will train RNAs

Loyalist College now has official approval from the Ontario Council of Regents to undertake the training of Registered Nursing Assistants. Negotiations for permission to initiate the program were begun last fall, and completed April 4th this year.

The College will make provision to complete the training of those students who have already started the program at Quinte Secondary School, and will recruit an additional 24 students to start this September. Quinte will no longer offer the RNA program.

Belleville General Hospital will provide Loyalist with the necessary clinical facilities to train the candidates. The program will be eight months in duration, and will prepare the students to write the qualifying examination as Registered Nursing Assistants.

Loyalist expects the program to be a popular choice for mature candidates as well as Grade 12 graduates. Already more than 50 applications have been received and admission procedures are underway.

According to George Brooks, Dean of Applied Arts and Business, this is the first health service program to be initiated at the College, although the academic portion of the training of Mental Retardation Counsellors has been given at Loyalist since last September.

Bay of Quinte UCW holds meeting

The 10th annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference United Church Women was held in Queen Street United Church, Lindsay, with an attendance of over 200. The theme of the conference was "Love is the Issue." Mrs. Eaton of Queen's Park spoke of her work on Anglo culture of Citizenship in the multiculture society. The importance of filling out reports was impressed on the ladies with a skit, Dear Betty. A Youth-Oriented Stewardship event was planned. This was later held in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville.

Miss N. Brown and Mrs. J. Goldie presented highlights on a Nation Poverty Consultation. Poverty is controllable if we have the will to do it. A guaranteed income might help. Root causes must be dealt with. Services set up to help poverty are sometimes second rate.

Major McCorkuodale of the House of Concord was the dinner guest speaker. Taking as his topic, "Part of the Problem is Part of the Answer or Vice Versa," he told that the House of Concord provides a home for 114 boys, ages 16 to 17, who come from Provincial Courts but not necessarily from broken homes. They are involved in educating these boys for a career. They try to interest them in skills and introduce them to work at Service Stations and Greenhouses in particular. Their greatest problem with the boys is drugs and they do help them to withdraw from these but can only do so when they themselves are ready. The U.C.W. does have a voice that should be heard as we have part of the Answer but not part of the Problem.

Mrs. Marsh of Belleville was in charge of the 10th Anniversary Service. The Peterborough Presbyterial presented a humerous skit.

The ten years of U.C.W. were commemerated by the lighting of candles by the past presidents, namely, Mrs. F.H. Ferguson, Mrs. R.C. Ellis, Mrs. L.F. Richardson, Miss Vina Neal and Mrs. W.H. Seigel to represent the years of their service. The worship in music was conducted by Mr. Q. McKinney of Peterborough.

A study of India was presented by Oshawa Presbyterial. Dr. Service of Lindsay, chairman of World Missions, who has recently made a tour of India, gave an address. He said that Unity, Witness, Hope and Service are necessary to proclaim Jesus' love in the Church of India. The World Organization of Churches have set themselves up to work in India and Bangledesh. He asked that we stimulate churches to support the relief service to bring them the hope that only we can give. Many interesting slides and items of interest from India were shown. The evening meeting was brought to a close with a worship service by Kingston Presbyterial.

The morning session opened with devotions by Mrs. M. C. Fisher of Peterborough. The highlight of the Spiritual Retreat was Rev. DR. H. Parker, professor of Old Testament and Hebrew Literature at Queen's Theological College, using as his text, "Things are Seldom what they Seem." There should be faithfulness under all circumstances. There is no immediate reward for those who are faithful. To exercise our faithfulness in Christ, running the race, we must remember four things: keep in condition, lay aside anything that distracts, keep our eyes on Jesus who has already run the race and not to grow weary or faint hearted.

A few hours were spent in Bible study groups, followed by the installation of the new officers and the dedication service conducted by Mr. J. Black, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

The meeting closed with a few remarks from the new president, Mrs. Clayton Thompson, Campbellford. Secretary is Mrs. K.C. Weaver and treasurer is Mrs. T.W. Spear, Trenton.

Duane Barrett, of Parkdale Public School, Belleville, won a recent fire prevention poster contest sponsored by the local fire department. With Duane is Fire Chief Leo Culhane, B. Wright, principal of Parkdale School, and Duane's teacher, Mrs. Eugene Tully, R.R. 4, Stirling.

Senior Citizens whispers

Four of our Senior Citizen's Girls were tied for high in euchre on Thursday. Fanny Kane, Florence Dafoe, Ada Bush and Margaret Fitchett. Lucky Margaret was lucky in the draw. Richie Geen had no opposition for high man. There were 13 tables of euchre. George Pollard of Frankford was a welcome visitor. Ricky Barnard was also present to see how his grandmother (Mary Cooke) behaved on her birthday. Everett Cooke provided the lunch and also a beautiful birthday cake. This was a nice tribute to Mary who in spite of any troubles always wears a smile.

MINIGAGS

Women keep a secret well but sometimes it takes quite a few of them to do it.

It's that time again when a housekeeper with a dust mop in one hand and a vacuum cleaner in the other, rearranges the dust.

The best way to tell a woman's age is in a whisper.

Student wins award

A student of Mrs. Eugene Tully, R. R. 4, Stirling, won first prize in a recent fire prevention poster contest sponsored by the Belleville fire department.

Duane Barrett, 10, of Parkdale Public School, Belleville, and under the supervision of Mrs. Tully, received a prize of $25.00 from the fire department. His poster was judged the best entry from approximately 250 submitted.

Duane's poster also won the province of Ontario fire prevention poster contest. On May 1 Duane and his parents will travel to Toronto. He will receive a cheque for $100 and be declared the Ontario winner at a banquet in his honor.

New curriculum guideline given

The impact of science and technology on society is the subject of a new Ministry of Education curriculum guideline announced by Education Minister Thomas Wells.

Man, Science and Technology gives teachers practical ideas on how to develop courses, at the local level, within three broad areas of study. The guideline is aimed at the intermediate and senior divisions (grades 7 to 13.) At the secondary level courses developed within the guideline will be eligible for credit.

Mr. Wells said that the main objective of the courses would be to give students an understanding of the influence of science and technology on human affairs.

"Science and technology has a tremendous influence on people, and can alter our society for better or worse," Mr. Wells said. "Young people can benefit from a clear insight into its impact."

The guideline suggests three broad areas of study: Man Scientist and Technologist, Man Understanding Nature, and Man Solving His Practical Problems.

Man: Scientist and Technologist deals with the lives of individual scientists and technologists and explains their influences and achievements. Included in this area are Canadians Sir Frederick Banting and Dr. Charles Best co-discoverers of insulin; Charles Sanders, the Canadian plant geneticist, and others such as the French aristocrat, Antoine Lavoiser, regarded as the founder of modern chemistry.

Man Understanding Nature deals with the development of science, the contributions made by many scientists and how science has been used to manipulate nature.

Bible Society secretary

Dr. Kenneth G. McMillan, General Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, has announced the appointment of Rev. T. Rex Norman, B. A., B.D., Minister of Knox United Church, Peterborough, Ontario as District Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society in the Bay of Quinte District. He will succeed Rev. Colin R. Rudd who will retire June 30 after serving as District Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society since March 1st, 1955.

A native of Newfoundland, Mr. Norman served as a lay preacher for five years before studying at Mount Allison University and Queen's Theological College. He also held pastorates in Victoria, Newfoundland, and in St. Catharines, Ajax and Peterborough in Ontario.

He has had training and wide experience in church financing and has assisted several congregations with their financial campaigns. He has directed Stewardship Workshops and Mission Festivals.

Some of the important offices he has held in his denomination are Commissioner to General Council, Chairman of Presbytery, Presbytery Stewardship Convenor and Consultant, and President of the Church Extension Council.

Mr. Norman begins his work at a time when the Canadian Bible Society faces its greatest challenge in history. With the Scriptures in 1,457 languages, and the demand exceeding the supply, the Canadian Bible Society is being asked to give greater support to the increased programs of TRANSLATION, PRODUCTION and DISTRIBUTION of the Scriptures which are now being carried on in 158 countries and territories.

In 1971 contributions to the Canadian Bible Society exceeded one million dollars and showed an increase of $57,000 over the previous year. Scripture distribution in Canada reached an all-time high last year. Some two and one quarter million Bibles, Testaments, Gospels and Scripture selections in 75 languages were provided to the churches and the people of Canada in 1971.

Mr. Norman will carry on his work of fund raising and scripture distribution from the office at 184 Charlotte Street, Peterborough. His wife is a registered nurse and a native of Newfoundland.

St. Paul's Faith Unit

Thirty-two ladies were present at the meeting of the Faith Unit of St. Paul's United Church Women on Tuesday, April 18. They were received at the door by Mrs. Elwood Johnson.

The leader, Mrs. Carman Fitchett, opened with a short meditation on faith prevailing. "O Worship the King" was sung. During the business part of the meeting five ladies contributed to the Birthday Barrel, and all sang happy birthday. A collection was taken for the "Mile of Pennies." Five hospital calls and 20 house calls were reported.

A bale-packing of clothes for overseas was announced for a date in May, and cut-out pyjamas were given out to be sewn. A communication from the general executive was read about how women should keep themselves better informed on their status and rights, and be more willing to be active in politics. Posters on this were displayed.

Plans for serving canteen at the forthcoming Festival of Sacred Praise were discussed and help was volunteered. The Unit has been invited to hold its next meeting at the Manse on May 9, with the devotional to be repeated at the Edward St. Manor on a later date.

Mrs. S. Williams and Mrs. F. Smith led a worship period on a springtime theme. It is a time of glorious beginnings. The hymns, The Glory of the Spring How Sweet and This is My Father's World, were sung and scripture read from the second chapter of Solomon. Mrs. H. West and Mrs. B. Jones sang a duet, Great is Thy Faithfulness.

Mrs. H. West introduced two young girls, exchange students from S. Africa, attending school in Belleville. They were Sonia Johnson and Dale Lumley. Using projected slides they told about their homes, their schools, their country with its scenes, flowers, and animals; their cities, industries and products; the native Zulus with their dress and customs. It was all very informative and interesting, and the girls answered many questions following their talks. They are enjoying their year in Canada.

Mrs. West and Mrs. Jones sang another duet, and the meeting closed with the hymn, Alas and Did My Saviour Bleed, followed by prayer led by Mrs. Fitchett.

WILLIAM J. HYKIN

A retired blacksmith, William J. Hykin of 182 Henry St., Stirling, died Thursday, at Edward Street Manor after a four week illness. He was 80.

Employed with International Nickel in Levack, Ont., Mr. Hykin moved to Stirling after his retirement 15 years ago.

He was born in Staffordshire, Eng., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hykin.

In 1916-17, he served as a sniper, associated with CRT blacksmith division, Royal Canadian Army, 119th battalion.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mary Florence Dockrell; two sons, Bruce of Levack and Clifford of Onaping, Ont.; and five daughters: Mrs. Matthew (Lily) Tuomi of Levack; Mrs. Ivan (Irene) Nelson of Oakville; Mrs. James (Hilda) Short of Midland; and Mrs. Allan (Joyce) Coleman and Mrs. Stanley (Joan) Eisnhour of Dowling, Ont.

He also leaves a brother, James, and two sisters, Miss Annie Hykin and Mrs. Hilda Whitnall, all of Leaside, Eng.

He had 35 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

He attended St. John's Church in Stirling.

Rev. Charles Staples conducted the funeral Saturday, April 15th at 1:30 p.m. at Hogle Funeral Home. Interment was in Stirling Cemetery.

George Finstad, who became known to millions of Canadians when he stepped into the breach late at night and stayed on camera to broadcast the dramatic events in the Cross-LaPorte kidnappings, is a staff announcer on both CBC radio and television in Toronto. Mr. Finstad can be seen most weekends reading The National on CBC Television at 11 p.m. His voice is also heard as narrator of television specials, the most recent of which were One Way to Quit, the startling documentary film on the harmful effects of smoking, and the recent television special Who Owns the Sea. Mr. Finstad is married and has a large family.

Horticultural Society meets

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

The April meeting of Stirling Horticultural Society was held Monday, April 17, at St. Paul's United Church hall with an attendance of 46 people.

A lovely artificial daffodil arrangement and a vase of real pansies were placed on the president's table.

Mrs. Floyd Armstrong greeted the guests as they arrived. Later she opened the meeting with the usual prayers and a welcome to all.

Mrs. Jack Doran read the March minutes and correspondence. This included invitations to Oshawa Horticultural society flower show in June and a meeting of the Belleville Horticultural Society also in June. Thank you notes from the various churches for their Easter lillies were used.

Mrs. Grant Hubble, treasurer, reported 80 paid members to date.

Mrs. Luella Bronson sent nine friendship cards during the month. The May meeting will be held one week earlier on Monday, May 8. There will be two plant sales on Saturday, May 13, and Saturday, May 20.

Mrs. Carman Nix, bus convenor, has arranged a trip to Ottawa on Tuesday, May 23 to view the tulips. The bus will leave Stirling at 7:00 in the morning.

Mrs. Ray Rose presided over the program and gave a May message.

Mrs. Harry Waite presented a travelogue in song. Her first selection was April Showers and she then carried her audience through Austria, England, Scotland, Ireland and several other places as she rendered their special theme songs.

Mrs. Ivan Caldwell gave a movie travelogue which showed a large array of floral blooms taken in their own garden along with greenhouse views. Local scenes of the area were pictured, followed by pictures taken while Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell were holidaying in Florida. The pictures of parrot jungle, sea aquarium and cypress gardens were most interesting. One of the films depicted scenes of picking oranges, sorting and loading for shipment to Canada. The miracle sausage tree and other oddities lent color to the travelogue.

The April committee, composed of Hilda Rose, Nellie Sine, Katie Caldwell, Laura Waite, Tillie Jeffries, Maude Nix and Jessie Warren served a variety of sandwiches, cheese and celery for the social hour.

Do the People of Hastings need a County Public Library?

YOU ARE INVITED
TO ATTEND A MEETING SPONSORED BY THE
HASTINGS COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY PROJECT
To Discuss This Important Matter
to be held at the Centre Hastings Secondary School, Madoc
May 1, 1972: 7:30 p.m.

The Hastings County public Library Project is people working to obtain better public library service for all the people of the small communities and rural areas of Hastings County. Up to the present, public libraries have been provided only on a irregular basis, with over thirty thousand County residents still without any service at all. During 1972-73, the Project plans to demonstrate the value of the county approach, by providing (at no cost) many of the services which would be offered by a Hastings County Public Library. These activities will bring books and other services to those who have never had them. They will also greatly assist those communities which already support a library. Try to be at Madoc on May 1, to learn what the Project means to your community and your County, and to offer your comments!
